Goliath defeated as Shell loses zoning fight

A lengthy David-and-Goliath battle which has raged in St. Albert for the past two years came to a final conclusion at Monday night's city council meeting. Goliath went down to defeat when council voted to reject an application by Shell Canada to construct a shopping centre on their property on Fairview Drive and Sir Winston Churchill Avenue.

The huge corporation lost out again later in the meeting when a bylaw to rezone the area in question was given third reading and approval by the council. Shell had wanted the land zoned C2 or neighbourhood commercial, and claimed to have purchased the land on that condition. However, the by-law to rezone designates only one acre as C2, and leaves the remaining acres with a residential designation. In giving approval of the bylaw, Councillor Barry Breadner commented that Shell had shown little sensitivity to the needs of the people in that area. He stated that the one acre of commercial land allowed sufficient commercial development for the area's needs.

Shell's plans for the area were thwarted by a comparatively small organization. Please Turn to Page 2

Council approves recommendations

Acting on the advice of the Municipal Planning Commission, city council Monday night approved three recommendations relating to development proposals in three different areas.

The first of these concerned the condominium development proposed by Fernwood Construction on lots 4, 5 and 6 on Grandin Road south. MPC Chairman Barry Breadner explained that the commission had reduced the number of units proposed from 28 to 26, giving a density of 6.59 per acre. This was necessary as the development proposal had called for a higher density than is set out in the city's guidelines. After some discussion of wording, Development Control Resolution 17, relating to the matter was approved. Mr. Breadner commented that the long process involved in obtaining the lower density was an example of the value of conforming to the city's guidelines. Please Turn to Page 24

Former Mayor remains enigmatic on election

Former Mayor of St. Albert Ray Gibbon was remaining tight lipped till the last on whether he would be running for mayor in this year's election.

Monday he told the Gazette he had nomination papers, but would leave it till "11.59 1/2 a.m. Wednesday" before committing himself one way or the other.

"I have my options open entirely till that time," he said.

Mr. Gibbon was mayor of St. Albert from 1968-74 with a six year stint, preceded by three years on town council from 1965-68.

Mr. Gibbon said that other press people had asked him if he intended to run for Please Turn to Page 2

McCaffery suggests change in bus fee structure

At the regular meeting of the Protestant School Board last week Trustee McCaffery moved that the bus fee structure be looked at by the administration to determine if the present policy should be amended. The present policy require those parents with children using the buses for a short period of time before leaving the district to pay full price without refund. Those entering the district late are charged only a partial fee. The idea would be to change the policy and make it more equitable - i.e. refunding those leaving the district. Please Turn To Page 24

Evaluation and promotion policy sparks discussion

A Board policy regarding the evaluation and promotion of students was adopted at Wednesday's meeting following an amendment moved by Trustee Murdo MacFarlane.

Education Committee Chairman, Don Munro, gave board members a brief summary of the committee's recommendations in which he stressed the importance of basing an evaluation on several areas throughout the student's school year rather than on a single exam written at the end of a course.

Prior to the Board's discussion of the Education Committee's recommendation, Mrs. Liesbeth Bakker addressed the Board. Mrs. Bakker wanted clarification of student evaluation policy, which in her opinion appeared to be inconsistent - standard level in some classes and relative to other classmates in other classes. She also expressed concern Please Turn to Page 2

THE PEACE in downtown St. Albert was shattered Tuesday as Grade 10 "Frosh" students made their way from St. Albert High across the Perron Street bridge - a noisy, humorous event.

Arts & Crafts Guild preparing for new season

The St. Albert Arts and Crafts Guild is looking forward to the beginning of another busy year. The 1977-78 Guild Board consists of the following nine people: Lois Folkins, Mayke Byl, Elaine Durst, Rein Selles, Terry Routledge, Lil Eitzen, Tony Sware, Carol Van Kesteren, and Gerd Poulson. All general members are involed in one of the eight committee groups, which are the framework of the organization.

Memberships are overdue now; applications should be sent in today. Anyone wishing information about the Guild, may write to: St. Albert Arts and Crafts Guild, Box 5, St. Albert.

that the practise of allowing students to mark other students exams and quizzes led to cases where the teacher missed the weak points some of the students had and correction of these weaknesses could not be made in that school year, as they should have been.

Trustee McCaffery agreed that evaluation and report cards should be standard throughout the district. A comprehensive and detailed report card, without the nebulous very good minus, or very good plus gradings, would be her preference.

Don Munro pointed out to Mrs. Bakker that the practise of students marking other students was a learning experience for all students involved and that the tests were normally rechecked by the teacher. He said that an attempt had been made to standardize evaluation throughout the district but that this was almost impossible to enforce.

Another concern of Mrs. Bakker's was the reluctance of teachers to advise that a child might not be in a grade commensurate with his intellectual abilities (either above or below). The policy adopted by the board will cover this by providing for the promotion of students to the next grade during the school year or redirecting the student into an alternative program.

Bakker also asked the board whether it had considered the adoption of a program of intensive study for bright students similar to the program offered by the Edmonton Public system.

Board Chairman Bill Webber said there was a general trend toward a 'back to the basics' approach in the system but that finance militated against such a special group.

Elmer Gish pointed out that there were drawbacks to forming such an 'elitist group' within the system and Trustee Munro added that the academic standards and achievement within the system were very favourable when compared with other Alberta schools.

At this point Bakker made the comment "I just wanted to drop this hint for the future."

MacFarlane's amendment to the motion adopting the Education Committee's promotion and evaluation policy was a wording change to allow more flexibility in the policy pertaining to the retention of a student.

Shell's attempts to disprove these claims and illustrate the value of the proposal failed in the face of the citizens' determined opposition.

Local boy found dead in bathtub

A one-year old St. Albert boy was pronounced dead at the Sturgeon General Hospital late Saturday afternoon, according to a report from the St. Albert branch of the RCMP. The baby boy was found in the empty bathtub by his mother. The cause of death is unknown at this time, and the investigation is continuing.

On Sunday afternoon,

RCMP officers observed a mini-motorhome driving out of St. Albert Tire Town. An attempt was made by the RCMP to stop the motorhome, and an unmarked highway patrol car was sideswiped by it. The vehicle was stopped shortly after, just north of St. Albert. Investigation revealed that the vehicle was stolen from St. Albert by two male juveniles who had escaped from the Westfield Youth Detention Centre at Edmonton. Both youths were charged with theft.

Campaign signs O.K. for right-of-ways

St. Albert residents who are startled by a myriad of faces popping up in city right-of-ways after today may rest easy. They are merely signs of the times -- election times.

Commencing today, Nomination Day, electoral candidates may place campaign signs on city right-of-ways and on private property.

However, public property, such as parks are off limits for such political promotion.

The permissive resolution allowing the posting of such signs in restricted areas from Nomination Day until 24 hours after the October 19 Election Day was passed at Monday night's regular meeting of council.

Kidney Foundation pleas for canvassers

The Gazette learned Tuesday that there is a desperate shortage of people to canvass on behalf of the Kidney Foundation of Canada. Irene Cherkas, leader of the Foundation's fund-raising campaign in this area described the situation as "urgent" and asked that a plea go out to all concerned residents who can spare a few minutes to save lives.

The shortage of canvassers is particularly acute in the newer areas of the city -- Braeside, Lacombe Park, Forest Lawn and Akinsdale. At present, there are no canvassers at all in the Braeside area.

The Kidney Foundation gets no assistance in fund raising. It receives no government grants and is not a United Appeal agency. All funds collected by the Foundation go to kidney research across Canada. Any research break-through anywhere in the country will benefit all Canadians. However, 70 percent of the money raised last year in this province was spent in Alberta.

Anyone who feels that they can make time for canvassing duties, is asked to contact Mrs. Cherkas at 102 Salisbury Avenue, 459-6963.

Lady Powell memorial this Sunday

A memorial service for Lady Baden-Powell will be held at St. Albert Roman Catholic Church, Sunday, September 25 at 3 p.m.

All members and friends of the Scout-Guide movement are invited to attend.

Prepared by the 1st St. Albert Nipigon Ranger Company, the service will be among the world wide observances this day to the late World Chief Guide.

Olave, Lady Baden-Powell, 88 years of age, died June 26, having served and encouraged for 50 years the youth movement founded by her husband. Lord Baden-Powell died in 1941.

Joint use agreement approved in principle

The Joint Use Agreement between the City of St. Albert and the two school districts received approval in principle at Monday night's regular council meeting.

Mayor Dick Plain commented on the incorporation of the proposed regulations for the provision of school and park reserves in future city developments. The mayor said the new regulations would be a "major breakthrough" for the city and the school boards.

Under the proposed regulations, the developer will provide five acres to the school board for each elementary school, and five acres of adjacent parkland to the city. For junior high schools, the school board will receive a six-acre school site, with six acres donated for city-owned parkland. For senior high schools, the school board will be given a 10 acre site, and the city will receive 10 acres for park reserve.

Councillor Margaret Smith commented on the possibility that Bill 15, the new Planning Act, might invalidate the terms of the agreement. However, the mayor stated his intention to speak with Municipal Affairs Minister Dick Johnson concerning the provision of school and park reserves in future developments. Mr. Breadner remarked that Mr. Johnson had indicated there would be some changes regarding reserves in the new Act.

Councillor Rod Thordson commented that the intent of the city's proposal was good, and the Joint Use Agreement was given approval in principle.

Smokers can call it quits!

Will she or won't she? Liesbeth wasn't sure

Asked Tuesday evening if she would be running for a seat on St. Albert Council, Liesbeth Bakker confessed "I just don't know - and I will be doing a lot of thinking tonight."

She had her papers prepared and signed but "I need courage to get into the campaigning." That is the part of the job that Liesbeth does not relish.

In other areas she is well prepared, having attended council and committee of the whole meetings regularly for the past two and one half years to inform herself fully on city affairs.

If she decides to run she will run on her own merits as an individual, and not as a "women's" candidate. I am not a Margaret or a McTeer, said Mrs. Bakker, but I do consider myself a separate entity from my husband and I would campaign as Liesbeth.

"I would never want a divorce, but I will always want to keep my own identity within our marriage," she added.

Should Liesbeth Bakker's name be filed as a candidate for city council, we will know that she overcame her trepidation about campaigning because she is vitally interested in municipal affairs and would like to make a contribution to the work of council. There are undoubtedly many citizens who share her concerns about getting into a political campaign.

Woodlands hearing set

At Monday night's regular meeting of city council, councillors attended to the following items of business:

Mr. Breadner moved that a public hearing on the matter of the Woodlands zoning be set for November 7. The motion carried.

Councillor Barry Breadner moved the appointment of Councillor Rod Thronson as deputy mayor for the month of October. The motion carried.

Councillor Thronson moved that the contract for the supply of gasoline and diesel fuel requirements for the city from October 1, 1977 to September 30, 1978 be awarded to Texaco Canada Ltd. The motion carried as did a similar contract for the supply of greases and oils during the same period, awarded to Gulf Oil Canada.

Mr. Thronson moved that the resignation of Mr. R. W. Thompson from the Development Appeal Board be accepted and that a letter of thanks be sent. The motion carried.

ST. ANNE Street got really ripped up this week after city engineering services took up a 30 year old six inch water line replacing it with an eight inch system. But according to a spokesman for the city's engineering department, traffic should soon be moving normally again with the replacement work now done. Reason for the replacement was three breaks in the line in recent days. While men worked on the water line, they also replaced 100 feet of sanitary sewer line, which was in a bad state of repair.

District 6 hoping for film library in St. Albert

Trustee Don Munro made a motion at Wednesday's District 6 Board meeting to have the administration investigate the possibility of a joint submission with Public School District 3 to have a Regional Film Library set up in St. Albert.

Educational film libraries, once administered and paid for by the province have been transferred to local responsibility.

Elmer Gish, district superintendent pointed out that Sherwood Park, who are also members of the St. Albert region already possess an edge in the competition for the library because of the facilities they presently have.

Trustee Shirley McCaffery was nominated as the Board's representative on the Joint Policy Committee which meets October 4 in Edmonton.

The feasibility of a joint submission by the two school boards was to be discussed at a meeting with District 3 last night (Tuesday).

BILL SHIELDS

Bill Shields, 4 Fairholm Place, has announced his candidacy for alderman in the October 19 civic election in the City of St. Albert.

Mr. Shields, 42, made the announcement immediately following the Monday evening council meeting with accompanying news release. As a member of the Board of Directors of the St. Albert Forest Lawn Community Association, he was involved extensively in the Shell Canada property issue, which received third reading tonight.

Mr. Shields stated, "The long hard rounds of successful negotiations relating to the zoning change is a perfect example of what citizen involvement can accomplish in the planning process."

"I am anxious to support the development of other neighbourhood groups and will assist them in expressing their concerns to city council."

"I know from this first hand experience that neighbourhood groups can, and should, contribute to the solution of significant social problems affecting their community," he said.

Through his work as a member of the St. Albert General Plan Advisory Committee, Mr. Shields indicated that he realized that "there is going to be phenomenal growth in the Edmonton region. City council must focus on planning as a key aspect toward local controlled growth."

He elaborated: "Controlled management of urban growth must be done in full knowledge of costs to the community in terms of housing, land servicing and quality of life."

Mr. Shields is very concerned about the present residential tax base. He is interested in exploring the feasibility of developing an economic strategy for the purpose of attracting secondary industry to the city. This would generate increased commercial tax revenue to offset the current high percentage of residential tax contributions.

"The small businessman is a vital force in our community. Particular attention must be given to assisting independent owner-operated businesses within St. Albert."

"The present city council are to be commended for encouraging projects such as the new regional shopping centre which will attract national and multi-national firms."

"However, we must not lose sight of the important contributions made by local businesses through the creation of jobs and efficient delivery of goods and services," he explained.

Mr. Shields indicated he encourages the creation of an industrial/business advisory board which could work closely with provincial and federal governments in providing assistance and advice to small businessmen, as well as secondary industry which might consider locating in St. Albert.

"Our present transportation problems are a direct result of too much growth without sufficient regional planning. It's a nightmare."

"The General Plan attempts to link controlled planning with the development of the necessary transportation network."

"Hopefully, with close co-operation among municipal governments in the Edmonton region, and continued financial assistance from the province, some solutions can alleviate the situation," Mr. Shields said.

Donald Coinner seeks council office

DON COINNER

After several years involvement in public and community affairs, Donald J. Coinner has accepted a nomination to run for alderman in the City of St. Albert.

In seeking election at this time Mr. Coinner feels he can offer the voters a background of knowledge and experience which would serve him in good stead in carrying out the work of an alderman.

Mr. Coinner has served as a member of the Sturgeon General Hospital Board for nearly five years, and he was also Mayor of the Summer Village of Betula Beach for two years.

He has been active in sporting activities in St. Albert and helped with coaching in the Kinsmen Minor Hockey Program for two years. "I am vitally interested in expanding recreation facilities in St. Albert neighbourhoods," said Mr. Coinner, "and at the most reasonable costs which can be obtained."

A businessman, Mr. Coinner is sales manager of Edmonton Printers Co. Ltd.

Donald and Donna Coinner and their family have lived in St. Albert for 15 years, and Don is keenly aware of the problems the town, and now the city, has faced in the areas of growth and expansion. "If elected I would work towards a positive future for St. Albert as a whole," said Mr. Coinner, "and the other major role of an alderman in my view is to try and meet the needs of citizens as individuals, and respond to their problems and concerns as fairly and responsibly as I can."

His campaign manager is John Poirier, the son of a former Mayor of St. Albert, Dr. Richard Poirier.

Mr. Coinner has a wife Tanny, and two sons, Shawn, four and David, two.

needed. The whole area of youth recreation and also library expansion must be given more attention, said Mr. Thronsdon.

Saying that council has accomplished some objectives over the last three years, he added that "there is a lot more to do." Improved transportation will be Mr. Thronsdon's major objective if elected this time around. Related to this goal is improved relationships with other municipalities. "I am not pleased with those relationships at present," he said. "We now have a better transit service and are getting some improved access roads, but I hope through co-operation with Edmonton and the provincial government that improvements, such as a solution to the 125th avenue circle problem, can be made. Mr. Thronsdon would also work towards a further extension of 156 street, and for extending the 170th street access up to 118th avenue. Most of our people are going to work in Edmonton, noted Rod, and these access roads need priority."

On the subject of transportation Mr. Thronsdon believes increased use of the bus system must come, even though it is expensive, to relieve traffic and parking pressures. And it is cheaper in the long run than cars, he added. Improved scheduling for the bus service he feels is a definite need and a few more buses may be needed. "Peak load periods are causing grief. In the end regional co-operation will have to come," said Mr. Thronsdon. "We must sit down and deal with other municipalities in straight forward and understanding discussions. Perhaps no one will be completely happy with results achieved, but gains can be made if we keep talking." We must deal with neighbouring municipalities - and that has not been emphasized enough over the last three years," said Rod.

Another area Mr. Thronsdon feels should have top priority is development of the downtown area. "We must deal with this immediately and get some development." Pointing out that the regional shopping centre will not be in until March of 1979, Mr. Thronsdon said it was essential to provide some type of service for businessmen - for which there is "tremendous demand." He feels the downtown is an ideal location for small businessmen and "we just can't wait for one large deal to get this area moving."

On the subject of light industry, Mr. Thronsdon would like to see this promoted, "but such industry must be brought in without jeopardizing the town financially." Rod was not happy about the city buying the land in the first place and voted against the purchase. He felt there were

Ayotte in council race

St. Albert resident Roger Ayotte, 32, formerly of Bonnyville has declared his intention to run for St. Albert council in the fall elections.

Mr. Ayotte, a former teacher, resides at 73 Lancaster Crescent, and is manager of Glendall's, a building supplies company.

In his platform, Mr. Ayotte says there is need for better co-operation between St. Albert, Edmonton, the MD of Sturgeon, and the provincial government.

He says people should strive to remain aware of developments such as a proposed strip mining operation which could come in at the former Star Key Mine.

He wants to see support of St. Albert Radio Company's second attempt to get a local radio station in the city.

Mr. Ayotte sees the need for improved recreational and social facilities for St. Albert's growing families and wants the people to be informed about what other governments are doing - for example, Sturgeon's input into the Cardiff recreation park.

Mr. Ayotte also emphasizes the need for better senior citizens facilities.

Mr. Ayotte's platform shows concern for "immediate action" in regards to the movement of traffic on the St. Albert Trail.

Mr. Ayotte wants to see the preservation of local history and park development on the Sturgeon River.

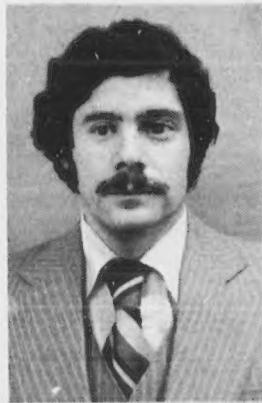

He would also like to see better public and commercial services in St. Albert and is concerned about the growing level of vandalism in the city.

Mr. Ayotte has a B.A. from the University of Alberta and a teaching certificate and has two years teaching experience at the Father Jan School.

His campaign manager is John Poirier, the son of a former Mayor of St. Albert, Dr. Richard Poirier.

Mr. Ayotte has a wife Tanny, and two sons, Shawn, four and David, two.

ALL PROCEEDS WILL GO TO SENIOR CITIZENS PROJECTS AND MINOR SPORTS IN ST. ALBERT

Our good mayor is off again in his efforts to temporarily divest the Jamison family of their small weekly newspaper business.

Oddly enough this matter never came up three years ago when publisher Ernie Jamison was supporting Mr. Plain for mayor. Mr. Jamison was the St. Albert MLA at that time, having been elected in 1971.

But of course Mr. Plain didn't state during his first campaign that he would be raising the mayor's salary either.

Mayor Plain cites as an example of conflict of interest a letter from Hugh Horner which he called "private government correspondence." The pertinent question which should be asked is why a letter from the Minister of Transportation, dealing with the government grants situation if St. Albert were to become a city, was not in fact made public by the mayor and his council. There were a number of residents who would like to have the opportunity to vote on this change of status, but there was no plebiscite on the question.

In our opinion, by withholding the letter from Dr. Horner from the public, the council violated the public's "right to know." It should have been circulated to members of the media as background information to council's discussions on changing to city status.

Any investigating editor or senior reporter might well have approached Dr. Horner and been given this relevant information on how transportation grants would be affected by a change to city status. As far as the Minister was concerned the information was no secret.

This is the mayor's example of how government is "in control of a segment of the news media." Some example - some nation-shaking segment.

The people are quite capable of deciding whom they wish to have represent them, and of when news reporting is biased.

We think the mayor and the AUMA have egg on their faces.

Coal use could have disastrous effects

From N.Y. Times News Service

"Highly adverse consequences" may follow if the world, as now seems likely, depends increasingly on coal for energy over the next two centuries, according to a blue-ribbon panel of scientists.

In a report to the National Academy of Sciences on their two and a half year study, the scientists foresee serious climate changes belonging in the next century. By the latter part of the 22nd century a global warming of 10 degrees Fahrenheit is indicated with triple that rise in high latitudes.

This, it is feared, could radically disrupt food production, lead to a 20-foot rise in sea level and seriously lower productivity of the oceans.

The focus of concern is the addition of carbon dioxide to the atmosphere by fuel burning. While that gas represents less than one-tenth of one percent of the atmosphere, it acts like glass in a greenhouse. That is it permits passage of sunlight to heat the earth but absorbs infrared radiation that would otherwise return some of that heat to space.

In recent months several scientists have warned of the consequences of increasing, long-term dependence on fossil fuels, notably coal, as the chief energy source because of what could be disastrous effects on climate. The argument has been seized on by advocates of nuclear energy.

The new study does not deal with alternative energy sources. Nor does it call for early curtailment of coal burning. Heavy use of such fuel is being promoted by the Carter administration as a means of avoiding excessive dependence on nuclear energy.

The central recommendation of the report, prepared with help from a number of government agencies, laboratories and computer facilities, is initiation of far reaching studies on a national and international basis to narrow the many uncertainties that affect assessment of the threat.

Dr. Revelle heads the Centre for Population Studies at Harvard University and was formerly director of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography in La Jolla, Calif. Dr. Abelson heads the Carnegie Institution of Washington. Dr. Malone, who directs the Holcomb Research Institute at Butler University in Indianapolis, has for many years been a leader in weather research.

Malone said that the report was not a red light on coal use, nor a green light, but rather a "flashing yellow light" saying, "Watch out." Revelle, in a summary of the findings, said that early action was needed because it would take decades to narrow the uncertainties and then a full generation to shift to new energy sources if that, as expected, proves necessary.

"An interdisciplinary effort of an almost unique kind" is needed, he said, bringing together specialists from such fields as mathematics, chemistry, meteorology and the social sciences. A major challenge would be to find ways to bring about the needed institutional changes, persuading governments and people to act before it was too late.

By the end of this century, Revelle said, it is expected that the carbon dioxide content of the air will have risen 25 percent above its level before the Industrial Revolution. By the end of the next century, it will have doubled, based on predicted increases in population and fuel consumption.

By the middle of the 22nd century, he added, it should have increased from four to eight times and, even if fuel burning diminishes then, it will remain that high "at least 1,000 years thereafter."

It is estimated that in the last 110 years 127 billion tons of carbon derived from fuel and from limestone used to make cement have been introduced into the atmosphere. Cement manufacture accounted for two percent of that amount and burning for the rest.

A considerable part of the carbon dioxide increase is attributed to clearing land for agriculture. This added 70 billion tons, according to an estimate that Revelle, however, described as "very uncertain." He noted that one acre of a tropical forest removes 100 tons of carbon from the atmosphere. When the land is cleared that carbon, through burning or decay, returns to the air.

More than half of land clearing for agriculture has occurred since the mid-19th century, he said.

Revelle termed the predicted worldwide rise of 11 degrees in the 22nd century "a very shaky conclusion" based on inadequate knowledge. But, he added, it is "a possibility that must be taken seriously." Part of the uncertainty concerns the amount of added atmospheric carbon dioxide that would be absorbed by the oceans and plant growth. He predicted that a research program to achieve more reliable estimates would cost $20 million to $100 million.

Much of the report deals with expected effects of a global warming. Agricultural zones would be transferred to higher latitudes. The corn belt, for example, would shift from fertile Iowa to a Canadian region where the soil is far less fertile, Revelle said.

Particularly vulnerable, he added, would be the fringes of arid regions, where a large part of the world population derives its sustenance, though the effect is difficult to predict. Marine life would suffer from lack of nutrients because a "lid" of warm water would impede circulation that normally brings nutrients to the surface.

On the other hand, plant productivity, Revelle noted, could rise 50 percent because plants would be "fertilized" by the higher carbon dioxide content of the air. The warmer climate could melt the floating pack ice of the Arctic Ocean, leading to radical changes in the Northern climate.

What Caught Our Eye

ENERGY TO BURN AND TO SHARE
From The Medicine Hat News

Four hundred billion tons of coal!

That's what the Province of Alberta possesses.

Not all of it is removable, of course. Only about 95 billion tons. And proven reserves are a mere 28 billion tons!

But that still is enough to go along for a few years.

Especially when the province also holds the tar sands along the Athabasca River and the heavy oil sands in the Cold Lake region. They could contain 300 or 400 billion barrels of oil - an amount comparable to the total reserves of the Middle East.

Again, not all of that oil is recoverable - perhaps only 100 billion barrels in economic terms. But that does not appreciably alter the situation in Alberta, which also possesses large oil and gas reserves in conventional fields.

The plain fact is that Alberta, with a population still under two million, has the greatest reserve of fossil fuels in the world. It is thrice blessed. As far as energy supply goes, it has nothing to worry about as far into the future as anyone can peer.

With that wealth go responsibilities. We in Alberta should determine how to get maximum use of our immense reserves of fossil fuels with minimum damage to the environment - how to effect economic recovery of the oil in the sand; how to derive oil and gas, economically, from coal; how to maintain or restore the beauty of the land and how to save the wildlife in the midst of development. We have one other responsibility. We ought to share our riches of energy with the rest of Canada. Look after Albertans, to be sure; but supply fellow Canadians as well. We have more than enough.

THE TENTH MUSE - ADVERTISA From Printer and Publisher

A man lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs. He was hard of hearing so he had no radio. He had trouble with his eyes so he read no newspapers. But he sold good hot dogs. He put up signs on the highway telling how good they were. He stood by the side of the road and cried: "Buy a hot dog, mister?" and the people bought. He increased his meat and bun orders. He bought a bigger stove to take care of his growing trade. He got his son home from college to help him handle it. But ... then something happened ... His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio? There's a recession on. The European situation is terrible. The domestic situation is worse. Inflation is rampant. Things are disastrous." Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college. He reads the newspapers and listens to the radio, and he ought to know." So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders. He took down his advertising signs. And his hot dog sales fell overnight. "You're right, son," the father said to the boy. "We certainly are in the middle of a great recession." And they were.

Why is it? A man wakes up in the morning after sleeping in an advertised bed, in advertised pyjamas. He will bathe in an advertised tub, wash with advertised soap, shave with an advertised shaver, and have advertised juice, cereal and toast (toasted in an advertised toaster), and put on advertised clothes and glance at his advertised watch. He will ride to work in an advertised car, sit at an advertised desk, smoke advertised cigarettes and write with an advertised pen. Yet this same man hesitates to advertise, saying that he doubts advertising pays. Oh! Finally, when his unadvertised business goes under, he will advertise it for sale.

INDEPENDENT QUEBEC TO JOIN NATO? From Canadian Press

Premier Rene Levesque says an independent Quebec should participate in North American air defence and be politically a part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

In a copyrighted interview with U.S. News and World Report, Levesque was asked about security arrangements for an independent Quebec and replied:

"As far as defence agreements are concerned, our party in the late 1960s hastily voted a retreat from everything - a 'let's get out of all foreign entanglements'."

"It's now being rehashed and it might take a couple of years to sort out our thinking, but membership in NATO politically is probably a must for Quebec eventually."

Asked specifically about North American air defence, he said: "That's something we should be part of as long as it didn't ruin us financially. Our doubts would be only about the cost, not the principle of continental air defence."

"Had one but he was too small" was all Dave Chrapka (right) could say about his fishing experience on the north bank of the Sturgeon River last Sunday afternoon. Dave with friend Greg Vergo, both 13 attend Lorne Akins Junior High in the eighth grade, as for the amount of catches this year - one apiece. There'll be no fish stories in their household this year!

better ways of approaching the problem and the private sector should handle such development. He was also opposed when the city - "without any commitments from developers" went ahead with servicing the Campbell Park site.

However we have it now, whether we like it or not, and we must try to promote the Campbell Park industrial area - hopefully it can be promoted.

Mr. Thronsdon was born and raised in Camrose and came to St. Albert 13 years ago. He has a Bachelor of Education degree from the U of A and an educational administration diploma. He has taught school for 24 years and is presently principal at Robert Rundle. Rod and his wife Betty have two children age 12 and 14. He is 42 years old. A member of the St. Albert Lions Club for 13 years, Mr. Thronsdon is a past president and has held many executive offices with the Lions.

Lions barbeque draws 1000

The St. Albert Lions Club were well pleased with the turnout of local residents on Sunday, September 11 for the beef barbeque. The weatherman turned on a nice day and approximately 1,000 people enjoyed beef, beans and salad in Lions Park. The kids had their fill on the free rides.

The "What Does the Totem Pole Mean to You" contest was won by four year old Jenny Wangler of 57 Beacon Crescent. She won a night out for her mom and dad as well as $10 for herself.

"Almost New Shop" open

The "Almost New Shop," run by the St. Albert Senior Citizens Club, will be open on Saturday, September 24 from 1 - 4 p.m. in the Senior Citizens Centre (north of the curling rink).

Al Alain a candidate for Catholic School Board

A St. Albert resident for 11 years, and a man active in the community, Al Alain announced this week that he would be a candidate for trustee for the Catholic School Board. Al and his wife Helen have three children, all in the school system. He is currently employed as a training co-ordinator in the Data Processing Department of Alberta Government Telephones, and was formerly manager of the data processing department of AGT for 10 years. He is 35 years old.

AL ALAIN

Mr. Alain has taken an active interest in community sports. He has coached baseball, is currently coaching soccer and refereed in the minor hockey program for two years. Last year he organized the first mini basketball program for the Knights of Columbus, who wanted to do something for girls in the 8-12 age group who were lacking in sports activities.

He served on the executive of the former St. Albert Credit Union as a member of the credit committee and the of the Knight's provincial paper, Alberta Knight.

Mr. Alain also created and taught for four years a course called Computer Operating Concepts at NAIT. He has been active in the activities at the St. Albert Roman Catholic Church as a lector and commentator and assisting with congregational singing.

"My number one concern as a trustee would be to work for good communications and community involvement with schools," said Mr. Alain. "to strip away the apathy." He admitted that is "probably a king-size order" but thinks it is a situation which required "whittling away at until we get rid of it." Mr. Alain feels the education of kids is too important to take lightly. "We can't ignore situations expecting they will go away," he added "that just doesn't happen."

Mr. Alain would try to work for a situation where everybody involved in decision making - parents, teachers, the administration and the board, would all be aware of what is going on. Poor communication sometimes leaves people in the dark he noted, adding that he has seen examples of this in his own work.

"I want to learn more about what is going on in the District 3 system, and to see if I can't help make a better system through total team effort," concluded Mr. Alain.

Jerry Manegre seeks office on Catholic School Board

Jerry Manegre, of 10 Montcalm Crescent, St. Albert, a 32 year old father of four, has declared his candidacy for Catholic school trustee. Mr. Manegre said he will place emphasis on curriculum planning and budgeting. "It's important to ensure that the Catholic school system encourages and complements the efforts of parents to install christian attitudes in their children," he said. Mr. Manegre added that this can be done while assuring that students get their basic education.

Mr. Manegre said the mill rate differential between the Catholic and Protestant School Boards should be carefully watched. The Catholic School Board is now collecting eight mills more than the Protestant Board. Mr. Manegre said there are dangers in having such a gap, and it shouldn't be allowed to widen.

Mr. Manegre and his wife Jeanne, both natives of Saskatchewan, moved to Edmonton in 1968, and have lived in St. Albert since 1973. During the past year, Mr. Manegre was a member of the St. Albert Parish Council, serving as finance chairman, and as a member of the executive committee. He has previously been active in the community as president of the St. Albert Gymnastics Club, chairman of the St. Albert Parish Kindergarten and vice-president of the Canadian Institute of Management (Edmonton branch). He is a member of the St. Albert Breakfast Lions Club.

The Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund

Digest of the 1976-77 Annual Report

Purpose and Objectives of the Fund

Substantial revenues are presently being received by the Government of Alberta from the sale of non-renewable resources owned by the people of Alberta. However, it is expected that by the mid 1980's conventional oil and gas will have passed its peak both as a source of revenue and as a job-creating part of our economy. The Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund was established in order to ensure that Albertans in the future will continue to benefit as a result of these revenues.

More specifically, the objectives of the Heritage Fund are:

1. To strengthen and diversify the economy of Alberta so that meaningful jobs are created and high incomes maintained for Albertans in future years.
2. To improve the present and future quality of life in Alberta by doing some special things which would not have been done otherwise.
3. To provide a potential future source of financing for provincial government services as revenue from non-renewable resources declines.

Sources of Funds

The sources of funds for the Heritage Fund during 1976-77 were as follows:

1. The transfer of $1.5 billion in cash and other financial assets from the General Revenue Fund of the Province on August 30, 1976.
2. 30% of non-renewable resource revenue received by the Province - $620 million. The remaining 70% of non-renewable resource revenue remained in the General Revenue Fund and was applied to general government programmes.
3. Income earned by investments of the Heritage Fund - $88 million.

Outlook for 1977-78

Non-renewable resource revenue contributions and investment earnings are expected to total nearly $1 billion in 1977-78 enabling the Heritage Fund to reach a level of approximately $3.2 billion by March 31, 1978.

It is estimated that during 1977-78, investments of $482 million will be made pursuant to approvals already given by the Investment Committee and the Legislature. These investment approvals include a further $195 million in housing, $141 million in the Syncrude Project related investments, $42 million in special health care facilities, $34 million in oil sands research, $31 million in special recreational parks, $29 million in irrigation and renewable resources improvement, and $10 million in cancer and heart disease research.

Holman running for Protestant Board

Rock Holman, a St. Albert resident for 15 years and a prominent member of the Lions Club, will be a candidate for the Protestant School Board in the October election.

Rock was born in Winnipeg and after service with the RCNVR attended the University of Manitoba, graduating in 1948 with a Bachelor of Science degree.

He has been employed with the same company, Canada Packers, for 27 years, presently in the capacity of supervisor. He and his wife Shirley have been married for 30 years and they have two married daughters.

Mr. Holman has been a member of the St. Albert Lions Club for 11 years and has held nearly all offices in the club, serving presently as secretary. In the 1972-73 year he was elected district governor, the highest position obtainable at the national level. It is a measure of his community involvement that he has 11 years of perfect attendance.

He is a former Rotarian and was a Junior Achievement advisor for two years. Mr. Holman was also instrumental in bringing organized Little League baseball to St. Albert. He is a member of the Royal Canadian Legion and of the Lepidopterist's Society of America, with an exceptionally fine collection of butterflies. A neighbour stirred his interest while he was a young boy and this has been a lifelong hobby.

Mr. Holman is an unabashed supporter of "Get back to the basics." "One hears so much these days on how the high school graduate is unprepared to enter the business world," he said, "and as a businessman I have seen many examples of graduates unable to spell or add - with a lack of common-sense and poor writing." Admitting that he wasn't sure what could be done, Mr. Holman felt this is a field open to great improvement.

A second major area he would work at as trustee is the financial aspect. "I feel there are definite financial savings possible through proper administration and control of utilities and labour," said Rock. "Not only is energy conservation a major field," he added, "people productivity is just as important."

Mr. Holman also considers vandalism an "extremely serious" problem from several angles: the actual dollar loss to the taxpayer, and perhaps equally important the effect on staff, and finally the effect on other students. "Vandalism has to be demoralizing to all staff in the schools," said Mr. Holman. "administration, teachers and others." He feels vandalism is also demoralizing to students, and that it must reflect the lack of respect now being shown for the school system. If elected Mr. Holman would make the subject of vandalism, its reasons and causes a matter of top priority. "I am sure," he said, "that improvements can be made and this type of behaviour reduced to the benefit of all."

Mr. Holman would like also to work towards creating a better atmosphere between the school district and the city, and in conclusion he emphasized particularly that "it must be remembered that the 'raison d'être' for the schools is the student." Therefore he says the efforts of the school board must be directed to this end - to provide the best education possible to the youth of St. Albert.

Ernie Wynnychuk will seek office

Ernie Wynnychuk who was narrowly defeated in his first bid for office on the Protestant School Board in the 1974 election will be a candidate again this time.

Mr. Wynnychuk is married with two children and has lived in St. Albert for six years. He was born and educated in Edmonton and is a school principal with the Edmonton Public School Board.

ERNIE WYNNYCHUK

During his years in St. Albert, Mr. Wynnychuk has been involved in a number of community affairs. He is past president and member of the Board of Directors of St. Albert Day Care Society. Ernie is also a member of the Adult Support Committee of the St. Albert Teen Society, and is vice-president of the St. Albert Breakfast Lions.

Last year Mr. Wynnychuk was president of the Canadian Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. He is a committee member of Junior High School Facilities for the Edmonton School Board, and has been 25 years with the Edmonton School Board as a teacher and administrator.

Mr. Wynnychuk believes that education should strive to develop each student's potential, so that he may successfully become a responsible and self-reliant adult in our society.

As a trustee he would promote policies that will create an education climate that will prepare students for our increasingly complex society. He would also work for expansion of programs related to early childhood education and to exceptional children.

"I would favour increased communication with the town councillors school staff and the community," Mr. Wyn-chuk said. From his experience Mr. Wynnychuk feels he could offer some viable solutions to school construction delay and excessive busing. He would welcome any questions or comments at 459-3573.

EDUCATION COMMENT

Report recommends co-ordination of school building and community facilities

Members of the School Facility Task Force met with deputy ministers and senior officials from 16 government departments this morning to review the degree of Provincial Department co-operation possible regarding specific recommendations of the Woods Gordon Report on school facilities. The report recommends establishment of a provincial level community facilities planning group to coordinate school building with all other community facilities.

The meeting explored the interest level and opportunities for planning schools in conjunction with public and other buildings for recreation, cultural, health, and advanced education. The plan could extend to include private enterprises as well. In some cases, instead of building new schools, classrooms might be located in other facilities such as Churches, Libraries and Co-munity Halls.

"Department Representatives showed considerable interest in the idea of shared facilities," said Task Force Chairman, Gunnar Wahlstrom. He invited concerned departments to submit written reactions to the report.

Task Force Member Harold Dawe said that the recommendations of the report represent a basic policy change in provision of community facilities, because the report not only recommends shared facilities, but shared social, administrative and educational responsibilities.

The Task Force has already met with some superintendents, the Minister's advisory committee on school facilities, and has set several more meetings with superintendents and school trustees in the six educational zones of Alberta. It has extended an offer to speak to as many groups as possible over the next two months to explain the report and explore its implications. A major function of the Task Force is to ensure that public and private reactions to the recommendations of the Woods Gordon Report are as well-informed as possible.

A series of regional public hearings will be held in November to receive briefs and submissions from interested persons and groups. A final report of findings and reactions will be submitted to the minister of Education by December 31, 1977.

Although exact time and location of the Edmonton hearing is not yet available, the date is Monday, November 21, 1977.

Ontario's Ministry of Education calculates that it now costs over $1600 to educate each of its elementary pupils, up from $1010 in 1974. Secondary school students now cost in excess of $2400 as compared with $1695 in 1974.

College finalizes property transfer

The Board of Governors of Grant MacEwan Community College and the Edmonton Public School Board have finalized negotiations for a transfer of property.

Effective September 1, 1977, Grant MacEwan Community College will obtain possession of the Jasper Place Campus location (the old Central School site), which has been leased from the School Board for the past four years. In exchange, the Edmonton Public School Board will obtain possession of the College's Assumption Campus site (10766 - 97 Street). The School Board will make the Assumption site available to Grant MacEwan Community College, for a three year period, rent free. During that time, Grant MacEwan Community College will develop the Jasper Place site.

The specific use of the Assumption buildings and property when possession is obtained in 1980 will be determined by the Edmonton Public School Board.

A new campus, constructed on the Jasper Place site, will house the existing Performing and Design Arts programs now offered at the Jasper Place Campus and allow for limited growth in the above-mentioned program areas. The programs and college support offices at the Assumption Campus will then be transferred to facilities at Jasper Place. This will reduce the college's campus operation from four to three locations in the city.

The existence of a permanent campus in the West End makes Grant MacEwan Community College the only post-secondary institution west of 116 Street in an area experiencing rapid population growth. According to Grant MacEwan Community College Board Chairman, Laura Kilgour, "This is congruent with the college board policy of taking education to the community through a multi-campus structure."

The proposed development will be the second building originally designed and built by the College to meet the college's educational requirements.

College offers Applied Zen and Meditation Techniques

The very popular courses, "Applied Zen" and "Meditation Techniques", are being offered at Grant MacEwan Community College once again this fall.

Both of these courses have been presented at Grant MacEwan Community College during the past two years. Bill Jensen, the instructor of the courses, is well known for his teaching in the field of meditation in the Edmonton area. The courses are being offered at the Jasper Place Campus of Grant MacEwan Community College, 10045 - 156 Street, beginning the week of September 26.

The Meditative Techniques course will introduce the student to a different form of meditation at each of the ten classes in order to different form of meditation at each of the ten classes in order to help him find the technique that is most suited to him.

Additional information on these courses can be obtained by calling the Continuing Education Division of Grant MacEwan Community College at 462 - 2680.

Endocrinologists to present course

A course in practical endocrinology has been scheduled for the University of Alberta September 22, 23 and 24.

The course, to be held in room 2-115 of the Clinical Sciences Building, is sponsored by the University's department of medicine, division of continuing medical education, and Faculty of Medicine, and the Council of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Alberta.

Dr. Peter M. Crockford, director of the University's division of endocrinology and metabolism, is the course's chairman.

The guest faculty consists of Dr. Richard Horton, professor and director of the division of the endocrinology and metabolism at the University of Southern California School of Medicine, Los Angeles; and Dr. Fernand Labrie, professor and director of the department of molecular endocrinology at the Centre Hosp. de l'Université Laval, Quebec City.

Sixteen doctors from the University of Alberta Hospital will also participate in the course.

Sponsors say that every effort is being made to make the course as practical as possible and that the clinical sessions will feature patients and x-ray material. Subject matter for the sessions includes recognition and management of lipid disease, a visit to a diabetic day care centre, taking care of the diabetic limb and management of diabetic eye disease.

A question and answer period will be held each day.

The fee for the course is $75 for physicians and $35 for residents, payable upon application. Luncheons and parking permits are included in the registration fee.

Registration forms are available from: The Division of Continuing Medical Education 12-103 Clinical Sciences Building, The University of Alberta Edmonton, Alberta T6G 2G3

Oral historians meet in Edmonton

The Canadian Oral History Conference is holding its fourth annual conference in Edmonton this year on Friday, September 23, and Saturday, September 24.

Oral history, contrary to common belief, is not new. In fact, it is as old as mankind, for illiterate man could only communicate historical information orally. With the advent of writing however, man came to rely almost entirely on the written word to document his past, and oral communication was nearly lost. It has been with the development of modern sound recording technology that man can collect information and study the past through oral information.

Oral history therefore consists of historical information preserved in the form of sound recordings. The sounds are often interviews with pioneers but may also be speeches, folk legends and tales, debates and public events. In some cases, sound documents may be the only historical material preserved on many aspects of society.

The Canadian Oral History Association was formed to help researchers, archivists and whoever expresses an interest in our past to learn to preserve this past on magnetic tapes. This year the COHA is holding its conference at the Hotel Macdonald, September 23-24. Sessions on oral history in museums, archives, and folklore studies as well as special project reports and a session with ACCESS Alberta should make this an interesting two-day meeting. The registration fee of $25 includes a reception Friday evening and a banquet with Lt. Gov. Ralph Steinhauer as guest speaker on Saturday evening. All are welcome.

Self Awareness offered

Self Awareness is a new course offered at Grant MacEwan Community College this fall. It is a general introduction examining different approaches to realizing self growth. The course will include exercises in bioenergy to enhance awareness of the body and the centre of tension and its implications. Participants will learn exercises to expand and improve breathing and thus increasing their own level of energy. Ways of dealing with tension will also be discussed.

Ms. Batya Chivers who will instruct this course explains that the course objective is to intergrate the three levels of awareness -- physical, emotional and spiritual. The physical will be assisted by exercises in yoga, bioenergetics and general sport; the emotional involves coming to terms with the source of tension and being more in touch with feelings such as anger, sadness and joy; and the spiritual aspect will utilize exercises in the expansion of consciousness.

This course will be offered at the Mill Woods campus of Grant MacEwan Community College, 7319-29 avenue on ten Wednesdays from 7:30-9:30 p.m. beginning on September 28. The course fee will be $30.00. For further information on this course, please call the Continuing Education Division of Grant MacEwan Community College at 462-2680.

Theatre Awareness on Grandin Mall

By Al Popil

On Saturday, September 17 at the Grandin Mall, a group of five U of A students were on hand to bring mallgoers a small taste of what goes on behind theatre curtains. The project, Theatre Awareness, co-ordinated by Janine Gliener said the purpose of the project is to show people the behind the scenes of live theatre and to encourage community theatre in St. Albert. Miss Gliener also stated that a community theatre workshop is not far away in St. Albert with a few prospective locations being examined.

The bulk of the audience of the four o'clock performance were children.

There were quite a few positive inquiries from adults about the project but as in every other instance when something new is brought into the community there is a negative response, like the male passerby who remarked "so that's how they spend our tax dollars." Well all I can say is if we all thought like that we'd still be hunting mastadons with clubs. For more information about Theatre Awareness and how you could help, contact Janine Gliener at 484-1552.

Unique vitality shows in work of local potter

By Vicky Knight

The work of local potter Elke Blodgett much resembles its creator -- warm, sensual and totally unique. Her art is moving, and few people confronting the artist and her work could fail to be affected.

I had arrived at Mrs. Blodgett's home early that day, still in the toils of Monday morning lethargy. However, my visit wrought a transformation of sorts, and I emerged later feeling revitalized and exuberant. The spirit and power of Elke's work is infectious.

Although skilled in wheelwork, Elke concentrates mainly on handbuilt Raku and primitive pottery, as these methods produce the texture and form that she seeks in the clay. The results of this work fill her house, intriguing the eye with their striking asymmetry and earthy textures. Some of these textures are reminiscent of Pompeian artifacts, but the shapes and forms are not those of relics. They are ripe, rounded and uneven, a statement by a woman of today.

In her home, Elke's work is ranged side by side with a number of Eskimo soapstone and whalebone carvings, and their influence on her pottery is evident. She elaborated on this, explaining that whalebone, clay and stone are all ancient materials -- dead matter that takes on a unique life in the hands of the artist.

NOTABLE TUTORS

Elke began her work in pottery about six years ago, taking various courses and workshops under the tutelage of such pottery world notables as Nel Sadec, Pierre

The Settlement Restaurant opens

There is good news at last for local diners who remain unmoved by the ubiquitous steak and lobster. Those who delight in the subtleties of European cuisine will find The Settlement a gastronomic haven.

St. Albert's newest restaurant is located in the new Professional Building on St. Anne Street, and will open for business Saturday. The building and restaurant are owned by Grosco Restaurants Ltd., who has hired D. J. Fraser and Associates Ltd., to manage the restaurant. The interior of the restaurant was done by Murray Store Fixtures Ltd., and the kitchen equipment was handled by ABC Cassidy Ltd., B. J. Graham Construction Ltd. constructed the building.

The restaurant's quietly elegant decor allows the diner to savour his meal undistracted by any contrived "atmosphere." The neutral greens, brown and creams blend serenely with the log walls, and the soft lighting and music are pleasant but not intrusive. The logs and rustic touches are appropriate for the restaurant's location, here in one of the West's first settlements.

If its menu is any indication, the Settlement believes in putting its money where your mouth is. The luncheon menu is simple, but mouth-watering. A daily special will be offered each day and all items on this menu range from $1.25 - $4.75. Dieters have not been forgotten, as there is a low caloric plate and several salad plates. The Goulash Soup may become a local favourite.

In the evening, the selection is dazzling. Beef and veal dishes are the house specialty, and these are prepared in a variety of interesting ways. One of these may cause a gourmet stamped. This is the tour-nedos of beef with sweetbreads, the latter being a rarity in Northern Alberta restaurants.

In addition the menu offers rack of lamb, chicken, char, salmon and other tantalizing items. The prices are reasonable, with the top price between $9-10.

Dessert fiends will be delighted with both the luncheon and dinner menus. Creme caramel, or an incredibly rich baked apple or cheesecake should satisfy the sweetest tooth.

Coliseum to host Moscow Circus

The finest circus in all the world, the Moscow Circus, is coming to the Edmonton Coliseum October 25-30.

From the incredible dancing bears to the flamboyant Cossack trick riders, the breathtaking high wire acts and the graceful arial gymnasts, every act is a headline act in the Moscow Circus.

A new reduced seating concept in the Edmonton Coliseum involves a system of curtaining which when combined with the European style one-ring arena makes every seat a great seat. This is in keeping with the producers wish that the superb talent of the artists deserves full attention.

The Moscow Circus will perform nightly at 8 p.m. October 25 to 30, and at 2 p.m. Saturday, October 29 and Sunday, October 30. Tickets at $5., $6. and $7 are now on sale at the Coliseum Box Office, all four Edmonton Woodward Stores, the Bonnie Doon Mall and Hub Mall at the U of A. Mail orders should be addressed to the Edmonton Exhibition Association, Box 1480, Edmonton, Alberta T5J 2N5.

The Moscow Circus is a presentation of the Edmon-

National Artists and Attractions.

Artists receive awards

Three young Alberta artists will be honoured for their outstanding showing at the Seventh World Children's Art Exhibition at Government House on September 28. At a ceremony commencing at 1 p.m. Horst

A. Schmid, Minister of Culture, will present awards to the children on behalf of the sponsors of the exhibition which was held in Tokyo this summer.

Brenda Demkiw will receive a special plaque and medal for her painting, "Imagine Coloured Elephants." Brenda was six when she executed her prize winning entry. Michelle Cirone, eight, will receive a silver medal for exceptional merit. Both girls were students at St. Mary's School in Vegreville. Brian Landreville, a grade 12 student from Seba Beach will receive a silver medal for his striking linoleum print.

Of the 50 Canadian works of art sent to Japan, nine were given special recognition and three of these were from Alberta. The artwork was selected by All About Us/Nous Autres, a non profit foundation dedicated to the encouragement of the creative talents of young Canadians.

It was encouraging to note that the Settlement lists Canadian wins first on its wine list. Our domestic wines are competitive and don't deserve the short shrift they get in many establishments. Neither does the list confine itself to sparkling roses or pop wines. Some full bodied varieties are listed, such as Chauvenet Red Cap, a robust sparkling Burgundy.

Two men will be responsible for maintaining the Settlement's high standards. Ueli Mulli, as manager, will oversee the restaurant's operation, while Chef Dennis Vermette will be in charge of culinary matters. Mr. Mulli is relatively new to Canada, having come from Switzerland. However he has visited here often as a Silver Broom curler. He received his training at a famous Swiss school for hotel and restaurant management, and was employed at the Chateau Lacombe. Mr. Vermette has worked at the Chateau Lacombe, The Discovery and the Creperie.

The restaurant will be open from Monday to Friday from 11 - 2 for lunch and from 5 - 11 for dinner. The lounge will be open from 11 a.m. to midnight. Saturday, the restaurant will observe evening hours from 5 - 11. A Sunday brunch will be served from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and a buffet will be held Sunday evening from 4:30 to 8. Reservations are suggested.

Washington - In the heyday of steam, luxury trains kept tight schedules. In June 1905, when the engineer of the crack Pennsylvania Special needed to make up lost time on the Chicago-New York run, he opened the throttle and averaged more than 127 miles an hour for part of the trip, says the National Geographic Society's new book, "Railroads: The Great American Adventure."

The Citadel Theatre announces new general manager

The President Peter Macdonnell and the Board of Directors of The Citadel Theatre have announced the appointment of Mr. Wayne Fipke as general manager of The Citadel Theatre. Mr.

Fipke will assume his responsibilities beginning October 1, 1977.

A native Albertan, Mr. Fipke comes to The Citadel Theatre from Alberta Culture where he was director of financial and special programs in the performing arts for the past two years. In addition to government experience in arts administration, Mr. Fipke has worked in private industry and in professional theatre. His formal education consists of a Bachelor of Arts and a Master of Fine Arts degree in theatre and creative writing from the University of British Columbia, a certificate from the Institute in Arts Administration Harvard University, and courses in investment dealing with film making. He is married with two children.

It is hoped that Mr. Fipke will bring his expertise and knowledge to assist in continuing the Citadel's position as one of the leading theatres in Canada.

CAPTAIN KIRK COMING -- William Shatner, shown above in a scene from the popular "Star Trek" television series, will be a special attraction at the Edmonton International World of Wheels show September 30 thru October 2 at the Sportex. The show will also feature demonstrations by the U.S. Masters Skateboard Champion and a dazzling array of the world's most unusual and colorful custom-designed cars, vans, hot rods and bikes. It will be open to the public from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. on the opening night, and from noon to 11 p.m. on the following two days.

Games history at Provincial Museum

History and highlights of the Commonwealth Games are part of a new program sponsored by Alberta Culture at the Provincial Museum. Wednesday, September 28 at 7 p.m. members of the Commonwealth Games Foundation present an entertaining illustrated talk to introduce people to the background and traditions of the games.

This is the first in a series of 11 programs scheduled for the final Wednesday of each month.

Next week, an in-depth look at each of the sports begins.

Admission is free. The Museum is located at 12845-102 Avenue.

Community Services Report!

FALL RECREATION PROGRAMS

When reading this it would be advisable to have the Recreation Brochure handy, as well as the advertisement which appeared in last week's issue. The changes and cancellations to mentioned have had to be effected because of circumstances "beyond our control" and we hope that they will not cause too much inconvenience.

The ladies keep-fit class on Thursday is now filled and letters have gone out to those who registered informing them of the slight change in the arrangements. The department has tried without success to contact Yvette Oleschuk, Faye Beck and Heather Curran whose registrations came in after it was filled. They are requested to phone Elaine Durst at 459-6601.

The Monday Ladies Keep Fit class will now go as originally scheduled in the brochure i.e. Mondays, from 9:15 - 11:15 a.m. in the Community Hall. So please disregard the change advertised in last week's issue.

The children's program, "RITE up your alley" scheduled to take place in Sir George Simpson School has had to be cancelled. Children registered for this location will be accommodated at Albert Lacombe which is also in the Grandin area.

Staff have been busy processing registrations this week and at the time of writing the following classes are now filled: Adult Pottery (Levels 1 and 2 Loom Weaving and Combined Dancing for the five - eight year olds. There are still openings - very few in some cases - in the following classes: Combined Dancing for boys and girls nine years and over (see last week's advertisement), crocheting, knitting, flower arranging, primitive weaving, advanced pottery hand building, introduction to pottery class, and the two new classes, Theatre Awareness and Fabric Design and Printing. There are also openings in all the workshops which, depending on the subject, are held at weekends for one, two or three days.

THEATRE COURSE WILL BRING IN PROMINENT SPEAKERS

The "dramatic collages" presented in Grandin Shoppers Mall attracted hundreds of spectators on Saturday, September 17 and there is no doubt that interest in local drama is stirring.

A stimulating new course has been added to the program this fall - "Theatre Awareness" and it will give everybody who takes it, a chance to see what goes on behind the scenes. Janine Gliener, the co-ordinator of the course has lined up an imposing array of guest speakers including Phil Silver from the Citadel Theatre, Warren Graves from Watterdale and Allan Lysell from the Northern Light Theatre.

The course is being offered on Thursdays from 8 - 10 p.m. at Bertha Kennedy Community School, September 29 - December 1. Further particulars and a registration form will be found in the brochure. If the registration form is not available, send name, address and telephone number along with the fee of $20 to the Cashier's Office, City Hall, City of St. Albert (cheques should be made out to the City of St. Albert).

The resurrection of the St. Albert on Sturgeon Players could be just around the corner. This group has been inactive for some years and it's time it came to life again. Any former players or anyone interested in becoming involved with a local theatre group should phone the Community Services Department at 459-6601.

STURGEON VALLEY BADMINTON

The Sturgeon Valley Badminton Association will be holding its annual general meeting and election of officers for the 1977-78 season on Wednesday, September 21 at the Vital Grandin School Library at 8 p.m.

SENIOR CITIZENS

The get-acquainted banquet held in the Senior Citizens' Centre was a great success. Between 70 and 80 members of the Club sat down to an excellent meal of turkey and all the trimmings, after which they were entertained by the quite recently formed choir who sang a group of songs, accompanied at the piano by Bertha Kennedy, their "trainer." The choir got a well dressed round of applause and their performance should encourage other members to join - Bertha will welcome them at the regular choir practise held on Mondays at 1:30 p.m.

Verne Hittinger and his combo then took over and there was dancing and singing and altogether everyone had a marvellous time.

The "Almost New" Shop will be open on Saturday, September 24 from 1 - 4 p.m. and as usual, Bernie Vaugeois will welcome assistance before, during and after the sale. She and her assistants will also be very glad to see both contributions and customers.

A general meeting will be held on Friday, September 23 at 1:30 p.m. in the Centre and members should attend so that they can air their opinions, make suggestions, etc. New members will be made very welcome.

POWER SKATING

Parents of power skaters are reminded of the annual general meeting of the Power Skating Club which will be held in Mission Clubhouse on Thursday, September 22 at 7:30 p.m.

Registrations for power skating will be held on Saturday, September 24 from 10 - 11:30 a.m. in Grandin Clubhouse (beside the swimming pool). This is not a learn-to-skate program and participants must be able to skate at least the width of the arena.

BADMINTON

Past members and anyone interested in joining the Badminton Club should attend the general meeting which will be held on Thursday, September 22 at 8:30 p.m. in Akinsdale Clubhouse. An announcement will be made about this year's program. Fees, instructions, tournaments, etc. will be discussed. It's an important meeting - don't miss it.

Kinettes fight cystic fibrosis

On Friday, September 30 and Saturday, October 1, residents of St. Albert will get an opportunity to help fight against cystic fibrosis. The St. Albert Kinette Club will be holding its annual Tag Day at Grandin Mall, the front of the liquor store and LBH Home Improvement Centre.

Kinettes and Kinsmen all over Alberta have been involved in raising funds for research to combat this terrible disease. Last year research gained $115,000 thanks to public generosity and hard work by the Kinsmen and Kinette clubs of our province.

Cystic fibrosis is a lung disorder and the sufferer is unable to digest food. Patients are treated with antibiotics and breathing machines. C.F. Patients are very susceptible to colds, bronchitis and other respiratory ailments.

So when you see a Kinette at the above locations on Friday, September 30 from 6 - 9 p.m., and on Saturday, October 1 from 10 a.m. - 9 p.m., please give generously and help win the war against Cystic Fibrosis.

How often have you heard that question or asked it yourself? Money is the number one cause of arguments in most marriages. A husband cannot understand why a wife is always short of money and the wife feels that the household cash allotment is not sufficient.

These problems stem from a lack of knowledge on the part of one spouse over the affairs of the other. It is difficult to understand the day to day money problems your spouse faces. Here is a quiz designed to make you more aware of the other spouse's financial needs. It is divided into two sections, one for each partner. Each spouse is to approximate the cost of 10 items or services that the other usually pays for. Score four points for each correct answer. Give credit for a correct answer if it comes within 10 percent of the right amount.

How much would you have to pay for these

1. A quart of motor oil
2. A chassis lubrication
3. A pair of first line tires
4. A 20 in. power motor
5. Fertilizer to cover the lawn
6. A 6 ft. aluminum stepladder
7. A set of 4 screwdrivers
8. A fibreglas fishing rod
9. The yearly income tax
10. Your husband's annual life insurance premiums

You can compare scores now if you wish. The final score is not the main point of doing the quiz though. The idea is simply to show how well you understand your mate's side of the spending.
Maybe the quiz has a lesson in it ...

Don't beef about somebody's spending habits until you take the time to understand their position.

Pork, the meat of the pioneers, is popular, nutritious and safe.

Gone are the days when fresh pork roasts need to be cooked to a crisp. Pork roasts are indeed quite safe when cooked to an internal temperature of 170°F (77.6°C).

Research has indicated that pork roasts cooked to a final internal temperature of the 170°F were juicier, had lower cooking loss, required less cooking time and were comparable in flavour and tenderness to roasts cooked to 185°F.

Pork has laboured under many myths for too long.
And one of these was that it must be cooked to high temperatures in order to have a safe product, in order to save the population from disease.

Some incidences of consumers contracting the disease called trichinosis from pork are still being uncovered. However, since trichinosis is destroyed at 137°F (58.3°C), even the suggested lower internal temperature of recent years leaves a wide margin of safety. Human infection from trichinosis contaminated pork is obviously caused by carelessness in cooking.

In processing plants federal government regulations stipulate minimum temperatures that processed pork items, for example, hams, must be heated to.

valuable safeguard in the cooking of pork, or in fact, in testing the degree of doneness in any meat. All consumers should have a meat thermometer in the kitchen.

Today's pork is a vastly improved product. Producers are striving to market leaner animals, retailers are trimming fresh products more closely and processors and manufacturing an expanded line of branded, processed pork and sausage products, many of which have pork as the primary ingredient.

Pork supplies high quality protein and the lean portions of cooked pork contain about the same amount of calories as the lean of other meats.

Grant MacEwan Community College, has been offering a variety of courses in Hatha Yoga for the past several years. This fall a new Hatha Yoga program has been developed especially for the expectant mother.
Noreen Badger, a registered nurse and an experienced instructor in Hatha Yoga, will teach the course. She will teach correct breathing, relaxation techniques and gentle exercises all designed to relieve tension, improve circulation and strengthen and tone muscles especially those in the lower back. All this can help the expectant mother maintain a feeling of well - being throughout pregnancy.

Ms. Badger suggests that anyone interested in participating in the program should get the consent of her doctor before registering.
She recommends the course for women at any stage of pregnancy--the earlier the better.

The course will run on ten Thursday mornings from 10:00 a.m. - 11:00 a.m.
beginning September 28.
The course fee is $15.00 and it will be held at the Assumption Campus of Grant MacEwan Community College, 10766 - 97 Street.

Anyone who plans to attend should wear comfortable clothing and take a pillow and a towel or blanket.

Further information on this course can be obtained by calling the Continuing Education Division of Grant MacEwan Community College at 462 - 2680.

Status of women conference

Following a year of successful lobbying on behalf of women's rights, the Alberta
Status of Women Action Committee has announced that their second annual conference will be held from October 30 to November 1 at the Mayfield Inn in Edmonton.

Moving Rights Along is the theme of the conference with will focus on badly needed reforms to provincial matrimonial property legislature as well as human rights legislation.

Delegates attending the conference will attend workshops as well as meeting with Alberta M.L.A.'s, many of whom have assured ASWAC of their intention to attend an informal luncheon during the conference.

It is anticipated that some 300 women from all parts of Alberta will attend the conference, only the second of its kind to be held in the province.

A safe, sure way to manicure

Many problems with nails arise when we think we are doing the most good ... during the manicure.

According to beauty experts, fingernails are best treated in a point-by-point system of manicure.

Here are some key points in the process:

Remove old polish with a cotton ball soaked in polish remover. Some removers are very high in acetone, says Anne, and this can dry out the nail plate. Use a cotton swab dipped in remover to get rid of traces of polish from around the edges.

Holding an emery board at a slight angle under the nail, smooth the nail into a "square oval" shape. File the nails in one direction, starting from the sides and working to the centre.

Nails should be filed only when they are at their hardest -- never after immersion in water.

Bathe the hands in warm, soapy water to clean the nails and soften the cuticles. Gently nudge the cuticles back with a manicure stick wrapped with cotton and dipped in cuticle remover. Wash the hands again thoroughly to remove all traces of cuticle remover.

Over-vigorous pushing at the cuticle will result in ridges appearing as the new nail grows out," advises Anne. "Be sure to snip away dry, ragged edges and hangnails with clippers, but never trim the cuticle itself -- this causes more hangnails and toughens the cuticle. Between manicures, push back the cuticles daily with a terry towel after washing the hands.

Brush on one or two thin coats of transparent basecoat to protect the nail surface and to provide a shield from water, detergents and everyday wear.

Nail polish is applied in three light, outward strokes per nail -- first, down the centre of the nail, then down each side. Two or three light coats will be needed. Follow with a final protective film of transparent overcoat. An overcoat gives extra shine, greater staying power.

Polish will peel and chip if not applied to a clean surface. Two or three thin coats will dry faster and last longer than one thick coat. For a neat finish, take a cotton swab and dampen it with polish remover. Run it along the outside of the cuticle and fingertip to clear away smudges of polish.

Organization gives family planning aid

The decision to bear or not to bear children is probably the most profound choice in the life of a modern couple. Reams have been written on this subject and the related topic of contraception -- indeed, so much that the uninformed couple might find themselves overwhelmed with data.

To aid couples in making informed choices, Serena was incorporated in Alberta in 1972. Serena is a family planning information and counselling service which promotes an understanding of fertility by the symptothermal test for ovulation. The organization also specializes in natural family planning.

Serena gives instruction on family planning on a coupleto-couple basis, in the homes of the instructors. Using this approach, the man as well as the woman is involved in family planning decisions. Serena members believe that this method has positive consequences for couples, in terms of growth in love and communication.

Couples interested in the topic of family planning can get information by watching the upcoming "Man Alive" series on "Sexuality and Contraception" to be shown on CBC TV on September 26 at 10:30 p.m.

For more information please call or write to Serena Alberta, 23 Huron Drive, S10 C11, Leduc, Alberta, T9E 1W5 or telephone 986-0090.

Course on nutrition and kids

Kids eat, right? But do kids eat right?

Nutrition for kids is the theme for a new course at Grant MacEwan Community College this fall. During this 10-week course, participants will discuss such questions as: Is nutrition for kids different from nutrition for adults? What affects children's eating habits? Can school lunches be nutritious? What about snacks and vending machines?

This course will run on Wednesday evenings from 7:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m. at the Assumption Campus of Grant MacEwan Community College, 10756-97 Street, beginning September 28. The cost of the course is $25 and it will be taught by Phyllis Matras, a qualified home economist.

For further information,

Both the fat content and naming of ground beef is legislated. Under the Food and Drugs Act (Canada) regular ground beef can contain up to 30% fat, and medium ground beef up to 23%, and lean ground beef up to 17% fat.

Estimates place the cost of meat industry compliance with the Consumer Packaging and Labelling regulations that came into force March 1, 1976 at over $3 million to cover design costs, new printing plates, equipment expense, losses on obsolete labels etc.

Always carve a roast across the grain of the meat. This way better looking slices are produced.

About 10 million pounds of meat - beef, veal, pork, mutton and lamb are consumed in Canada every day.

Cattle are more than beef. From the pancreas gland comes insulin - a life preserver for diabetics. One pancreas supplies enough insulin to supply a diabetes needs for 10 days to two weeks.

A typical market hog weighing 210 pounds alive produces about 20 pounds of side (breakfast) bacon.

Freezing will not improve the quality of beef, but if maintained at 0°F or lower and properly wrapped, beef can be kept in the freezer for 8 - 12 months.

New books at the St. Albert Public Library

By Margrit McCreath
The Canadian Northern Railway by T. D. Regehr. This colourful story of one of Canada's most daring and controversial railways is based on careful research using the company's own records, relevant political papers, government publications, and newspaper references.
Enjoying Canadian Painting by Patricia Godsell. A delightful and perceptive introduction to Canadian art. It presents a lucid account of artistic developments in Canada and sets these developments in the general context of the art of the Western world. Each work is treated individually and detailed consideration is given to theme, form and technique.

J. R. R. Tolkien by Humphrey Carpenter. This biography, written by Tolkien's life-long friend, is complete and authorized. With assistance and co-operation of the Tolkien family, Carpenter has provided a document that explores the career and personality of the author and artist who created The Lord of the Rings, The Hobbit and other major works.

Ladies and Escorts by Audrey Thomas. A collection of new stories and a companion volume to Ten Green Bottles. Truths that are only implied in the earlier work are here laid bare: the broken marriages, the varied loves, the confusion, the despair that we all know in our own lives and the lives of those around us.

People of Kau by Leni Riefenstahl. One of the most outstanding film directors and documentary photographers of our time, Riefenstahl here presents a beautiful, large, full colour volume of the life of this African tribe.
Six Journeys: A Canadian Pattern by Charles Taylor.

Six intriguing biographical studies of Canadians who sought lifestyles and identities in other cultures. Included are Brigadier James Sutherland Brown, Bishop William White, James Houston, Herbert Norman, Emily Carr and Scott Symons.
Taxi by Helen Potrebenko. When a woman earns her living driving oil executives to the Vancouver airport and the unemployed around Skid Road, she runs head on into every social and political problem facing Canadian society. Although the characters in this novel are fictional, Helen Potrebenko drove a cab in Vancouver for a number of years.

Elke, who describes herself as a "fire" potter is greatly interested in designing and building kilns, which she says need not be expensive.

fully that she experiences some anxiety as each pot leaves her home with a new owner.
 However, although she builds her pots with scrupulous care and tenderness, Elke divulged that the actual building is not her greatest love. That is reserved for the firing process, and she describes herself as a "fire" potter, rather than a "clay" potter. In her career she has built over 10 woodburning kilns, each time improving and altering design and construction. At present, she is trying to build a kiln for the St. Albert Arts and Crafts Guild. She stresses that potters need not always have expensive commercial kilns, as alternative heat sources are possible. Elke hopes her teachings will reveal the basics of pottery, such as the use of wild clay and natural glazes, so that her students will know the essence of the potting art, and not merely expensive techniques.
 It was inevitable that I left Elke Blodgett's home with one of her pots clutched proudly under my arm. The work will enliven my home as the interview did my day.

 Guy, Santo Mignosa, Noburu Kubo, Carleton Ball and Bertha Martin. She spent an invaluable year as assistant to Mary Borgstrom in Raku workshops and kiln building courses. In addition, she took several classes with John Chalke, studying Japanese style and tradition as well as kiln-building. She is especially enthusiastic about a course taught by sculptor-potter Ruth Duckworth at Banff. A grant from the City of St. Albert enabled her to take the Chalke and Duckworth courses.
 She has shown her work in exhibitions at Stony Plain, the Glenbow Institute in Calgary, the Canadian and Handworks galleries in Edmonton. One of these was her own one-man invitational show at the Stony Plain Multicultural Centre.

This year, St. Albert residents can take advantage of Elke's skill and artistry in her city-sponsored classes in advanced handbuilt pottery. The classes will be held Tuesday afternoons and will instruct students in building pots without the aid of a wheel.

CLAY HAS LIFE

During the interview, it became obvious that this artist is no mere technician, despite her preoccupation with kiln construction. She explained to me that each work grows from the clay with a life of its own. Each evolves in its own form, much like the development of a child. Elke admitted rue-

Small Quebec village world cheddar - champ

Since 1972 a small village in Quebec has produced more of the world's most popular cheese than any other place.

Last year for example, the plant at Notre Dame du Bon Conseil produced 40 million pounds of cheddar curd. Total production in 1976 was a staggering 65 million pounds.

Two million pounds of full-cream milk are delivered daily to the Bon Conseil plant, it is transformed into cheddar curd, skimmed milk powder, whey powder and butter whey. Ten pounds of milk are needed to make one pound of cheddar, which then matures for up to 1½

But even armed with these statistics, any casual visitor brought up on images of cowbells, alpine pastures, cool storage cellars and hand formed cheese wheels, is in for a shock. For the Bon Conseil plant is the most modern, automated cheese factory of its type anywhere. In fact, at no stage is the cheese touched by human hand.

The $4-million plant, which uses equipment imported from New Zealand and Australia, looks more like a huge distillery and needs only 60 employees on a three-shift, 24-hour basis to handle the output.

The milk is stored in insulated tanks at 40 degrees until it is ready for processing.

First it is clarified, then pumped to the pasteurizer, which has a capacity of 110,000 pounds per hour.

From there is moved to 12 vertical vats which can handle 35,000 pounds each and have their own agitators and cutters.

After three hours in the vats, the curd is separated from the whey, drained and then pumped to the top of the cheddarization tower.

It falls to the bottom of the 65-foot tower, moves through the milling machine, is salted and sent to the packing station.

Kraft Canada in Montreal takes the entire production and is responsible for the maturing process. The entire operation lasts about six to eight hours.

Last year hundreds of foreign specialists came to study the plant. Apparently they were particularly impressed with the installations, the management, the milk-seeding process and the high standards of sanitation. Fifteen researches are constantly at work to improve conditions and efficiency. Dr. Richard Thibodeau, for instance, has perfected a method of preventing the spread of bacteriophage, which destroys the lactic cultures used to seed the milk. Other researchers are studying the possible addition of enzymes to accelerate the maturing process.

And, says Mr. Hamel, there are plans to increase production in order to make other types of cheese not just white and colored cheddar curd year in year out.

It enjoys a sophisticated method of milk collection from a network of 1,034 dairy farmers who deal exclusively with the plant. The co-operative has 9,189 farmer-members, making it the largest dairy co-operative in Canada.

It began in 1938, when 88 local farmers got together, each contributing $4,000.

Its plants produced 59 million pounds of butter last year, more than 104 million pounds of skimmed milk powder, as well as a variety of other dairy products such as yogurts, fresh dairy desserts and ice cream. Annual sales in 1976 climbed to an all-time high of $287 million from $240 million in 1975.

The co-operative produces more than 45 percent of all the powdered milk consumed in Canada.

In addition to the manufacture and marketing of milk products, the co-operative provides several services to its members to improve the profitability of their farms, to reduce the cost of milk production and improve the quality. These services include the buying of fertilizers, seeds, farm implements and hardware, technical advice on livestock breeding, veterinarian services and access to working capital for farm development. The co-operative also manufactures bulk tanks for its members.

The future for cheese is rosy. Canadian consumption, which had dropped off by four percent in 1975, showed a healthy upturn last year.

And as a result the co-operative's production rose by 18 percent in 1976.

Each year since 1968 the cheeses of the Granby co-operative have won grand championship awards at the Canadian National Exhibition, the British Empire Show and first prize at the world cheese contest in Wisconsin.

Perfect pig a computer

The perfect pig - a computer which does all but grunt - has been built by scientists at Edinburgh University's School of Agriculture.

Dr. Colin Whittemore, animal nutritionist and biologist, commented: "The reason we have built the computer model of the pig is so that we can carry out animal production experiments more easily and far more quickly than before."

"A traditional experiment, using live animals, usually takes at least a couple of years to complete and requires the full-time involvement of two or three scientists. We can carry out the same experiment on the computer between breakfast and coffee."

The computer model consists of a complex series of equations representing the bio-chemical and physiological reactions of a pig to a variety of nutritional elements and external factors.

"We simply tell the computer all we know about the pig which it has to model," said Dr. Whittemore. "This information includes things like the breed of the pig, its exact diet, broken down into its constituents of energy, protein and so on, whether its quarters are hot or cold, wet or dry, whether or not it is contented and, a very important factor, its sex."

"Armed with these facts, and any others which we consider relevant to the experiment, the computer then gives us a day-by-day breakdown of the animal's growth rate under these conditions. The computerized pig can grow several months in just a few seconds and the results we achieve match the results from live animal experiments very closely."

Dr. Whittemore and his team have been able to tell whether, given a certain diet and conditions, a pig will be fat or lean and whether it will be suitable for pork or bacon.

"Using a computer model," the scientist stated, "feed manufacturers will find it easier to formulate new recipes to fit any conditions or meat requirements. The pig producer who has problems arising from the fluctuating price of feed and the rapidly changing price which he gets for the meat, will be in a position to plan his strategy well in advance and decide how fast and how fat to grow his pigs. "We chose to work on the pig because it was the easiest, but using what we have learned during this exercise it should be fairly simple to devise similar models for sheep, cattle, fowl and other farm animals."

Ontario and Quebec plagued by non- licensed travel agents

Protect yourself - Here's How:

(1) Insist on seeing the Agents I.A.T.A. (International Air Travel Association License) or their A.T.C. License (Air Transport Commission).

(2) Insist on seeing their travel agency name imprinted in the upper right hand corner of the ticket.

(3) Insist on seeing their license to operate a travel agency issued by the city or town.

Here's the bad news - if they don't have two (2) of these documents.

If they don't have I.A.T.A. or A.T.C. - you will have little recourse when your trip is messed up - as all I.A.T.A. and A.T.C. appointed agents must pass rigid rules of Bonding, Cash and Experience. You see, most customers of travel agencies don't feel they have any reason to question agency ABC imprint when agencies XYZ imprint appears in the upper right hand corner of the ticket. It is illegal but then there is only one person who could even question it and that's the customer, but then he or she doesn't know it's illegal. - But have a crash or a wrong fare and see who backs out of the responsibility.

Next time you travel - use a professional - it costs you nothing extra.

School Days In St. Albert

Paul Kane News

By Carolyn Seltz

Well, the trees are losing their healthy green colour and turning quietly yellow, orange, red, while students lose their healthy colour and turn quietly green. It's school time again. Despite the fact that we have been reinstated in the institution for little more than a week, and many of us have not yet attained our customary peak of enthusiasm for the new year, plans are quickly burgeoning.

Yearly student photographers will be shot on September 29; a dance is planned for Tuesday, September 27 from 8:30 to 12 and yearbooks will soon be distributed to remind us of all those wonderful, wonderful good old schooldays and the horrors to come.

Mr. Resler, one of the Paul Kane gym instructors, has decided, after critically surveying the physique of the student population, to instigate a Fight Fat Club. It meets in the gym once a week and though we haven't yet noticed an increased state of good health in members, they're hoping.

Badminton teams will be starting in October and should continue throughout the year to April, under the benevolent auspices of Mr. Gouchey. Volleyball has begun already, will continue into November and every noon hour, teams compete in flag football.

Paul Kane's successful Debate Club is again planning to participate in inter-school debating, the first tournament to be impromptu debating at Harry Ainlay on October 1.

The school's drama club is also well into its newest project: "The Ecstasy of Rita Joe." Parts have been assigned and rehearsals started for the play, which, hopefully, will be ready for viewing by December.

The Paul Kane concert and stage bands are looking into the possibility of packing their bags and making their musical way to Ottawa next spring, thus returning last year's visit here by the Bell Band. If plans are made concrete, fund-raising projects will soon be issuing from Paul Kane, placing themselves at the mercy of music-loving St. Albertans.

For any students who graduated from Paul Kane in 1977: applications for both the Brostrom-Maltby Memorial Scholarships and the Community League Scholarship must be submitted in writing to Miss D. Powel, at Paul Kane, before Thursday, September 29.

The Brostrom-Maltby Memorial Scholarships are awarded to two students (one of each sex) who will continue with some aspect of education in a recognized post-secondary educational program within the next three years. Selection is based on school and community involvement.

The Community League Scholarship is awarded to a student continuing his or her education this year. The applicant is judged, again, on school and community involvement, though the emphasis is on the community.

Each scholarship is worth $100 and the Brostrom-Maltby Scholarship money may be given to the students at any time within the three year period.

Paul Kane will be holding its Awards Night on Thursday, October 20, and students receiving awards will be contacted this month.

And finally, looking forward, already, to the end-after six days of school - Grad will be held next year on, of all days, Friday, May the 13th!

Out of the closet at last? Not quite. Monique Teller and Dwayne Malone were experiencing that rather embarrassing high school initiation ritual - Frosh. Nice way to be introduced to St. Albert High, eh, kids.

Teen News and Views

By Kelly Daniels

The greatest institution in our entire society has to be the family. It provides a vehicle to raise children in a safe, secure and loving atmosphere; it provides a support system for adults to guide their lives and it also provides an orderliness for our society to transfer values from generation to generation and these are just a few benefits.

As in most institutions in our society today, families have their ups and downs and sometimes come out the better for it and sometimes they don't. It is with reference to the family that is feeling strains for whatever reasons and after various efforts to cope with these strains is unable to resolve the difficulties that I would like to direct a few comments today.

Most families go through some rough weather: the difficulties in dealing with teen-age children, possibly financial problems, maybe an alcoholic parent, whatever it is if the unit as a whole finds itself in the situation of being unable to cope with the problem, it can be disastrous. Resources are available within the St. Albert community to assist troubled families through the most serious, as well as the seemingly minor problems they may encounter. Alcoholics Anonymous and Al Anon, family counsellors with Mental Health Services, special workers with the local Health Unit as well as many other agencies are set up to assist families through difficult times and over the coming weeks, I will attempt, with the co-operation of the various agencies, to provide you with information on their role in assisting the family.

TEEN SCENE

The first dance of the new season happened last Friday night, September 16, in the Grandin Clubhouse and although the Grandin Teens had to scramble a bit to make the final arrangements, everything went well with a full house having a great time. Thanks go to Clint Larue for doing the D.J.'ing, Butch Lindstrom and Dennis Sabourin and his cousin for helping the kids supervise. Grandin Teens will be staging regular discos every second Friday but will need more assistance from members to make them work.

This Friday at the Purple Church on the Trail, the Hide-Out is holding another disco, you can get more details by listening to the announcements at school.

Gym programs will be commencing shortly at location throughout St. Albert. These programs are sponsored by local Teen Clubs and supervised by volunteers, so if you wish to participate call one of the following presidents:

East Side Teens - Albert Zylstra - 459-8512; Lacombe Teens - Garth Howe, 458-2765; Grandin Teens - Mike Lalonde, 458-5104.

I still have a number of items left over from this summer's camping trips that must be claimed within the next month or they will be dispersed in other ways. If you are missing any items, please contact me at 459-6601 and claim them.

It was then moved that council approve staff amendments to the design briefs pertaining to the Qualico development in Akinsdale. Mr. Breadner told council this approval would be subject to the submission of subdivision plans and the consideration of a development agreement, as well as the relocation of the park reserves. Because of a dispute between the developer and the owner of some land adjacent, the planning commission had asked that the park reserve be taken from lands that Qualico already owns, and not from the lands in dispute. Mr. Breadner also pointed out that more open play area is needed in the Akinsdale area, as some of this land was being covered by the new arena. His motion to

tions concerned the application by Shell Canada to build a shopping centre on their five-acre property at Fairview Boulevard and Sir Winston Churchill Avenue.

The board unanimously approved the borrowing of $330,000 at not more than 12% per annum for construction of portable classrooms for the Lacombe Park Core School.

Work on the West Grandin School is underway. The Board met with the architect to look over the drawings last night. A contract with Calgary Power based in a minimum charge of $581.20 per month was approved at Wednesday's meeting.

Trustee Murdo MacFarlane reported that an architect's feasibility study on locating a band room between the gyms in Paul Kane High School proved positive. The Board sent the matter to engineers for a practical study which would supply them with costs and any alternatives. Trustee McCaffery opposed the move feeling the practical study should have been carried out at the same time as the first study.

Lists of extracurricular and co-curricular activities submitted to the Board by district schools for insurance purposes were approved with slight amendments. Any additional activities would need the approval of the district superintendent, Elmer Gish.

Unanimous approval in principle was given by Protestant Separate School District #6 to the City's General Plan. A joint meeting with Public School District #3 board members was held Tuesday night to work out the wording in the General Plan for the Joint Use agreement. Both school boards are concerned with the disposal of school sites after they no longer serve the purpose they originally were

disposal agreement should assure the site's new use would be for public purposes.

Clean-up ordered for auto repair shop

St. Albert Auto Haus, 2 Riel Drive, has been ordered by St. Albert City Council to clean up its premises. The order was issued to the body shop at Monday night's regular meeting of council. The order states that all dismantled and wrecked vehicles are to be removed from the premises within 30 days.

Mayor Dick Plain commented that previous requests made in the past two months had not resulted in the requested clean-up, so the order was necessary. City Manager Bob Byron stated that it was never the intent of the city to allow the storage of car hulks on the property.

He also said that the terms of the development agreement with the city had not been met by the property owner.

Combating soil salinity

Using deep-rooted grasses as a biological sponge to soak up excess water may stop salinity from claiming more prairie farmland.

Scientists at Agriculture Canada's Swift Current, Saskatchewan Research Station are experimenting with planting forage crops at key locations in saline fields. This practice should pull any excess moisture out of the soil and prevent it from reaching the surface of the fields in low-lying areas.

Already more than four million acres in Saskatchewan alone are considered saline.

Hay crop down

An Alberta crop specialist says the province's hay and forage crops are the worst since 1964-65, but he does not predict a shortage.

"There should be enough surplus in the north to meet the demands of the south," said Laurent Gareau, forage crops supervisor for the Alberta Agriculture Department.

The poor hay and forage crops in the south may cause farmers to cull cattle herds but "so far there has been no panic selling," he said.

AADAC now operating out of health clinic

The Alberta Alcohol and Drug Abuse Commission opened a referral centre in the Sturgeon Health Clinic September 19 under the supervision of St. Albert resident, Helen Raboud.

Persons in need of assistance will receive individual counselling from Mrs. Raboud and then be referred to the Edmonton Downtown Treatment Centre for group treatment if it is deemed necessary. All patient information is maintained in strict confidence.

The centre provides individual and family counselling, medical, psychological and psychiatric services as required augmented by a comprehensive group program. Treatment is tailored to the needs of each individual and families are encouraged to participate.

Information and consultation are also offered to any interested citizen - employers, relatives or agencies regarding people who are having problems related to alcohol or other drugs.

Mrs. Raboud will be meeting with nurses throughout the area to explain the program so that they might make referrals to the clinic. Referrals will also be made through St. Albert Preventive Social Services. People may also refer themselves through appointment by phoning the Health Unit at 459-6671 or the Downtown Treatment Centre at 427-2736.

HELEN RABOUD

The Centre deals with all forms of drug addiction. It is estimated that 10 percent of the population is affected by alcohol problems alone. Severe alcohol problem cases are referred to the Henwood Institute.

Mrs. Raboud sits on the Board of Directors of the Family Life Education Council of Edmonton and those with problems not related to drug abuse will be referred to this volunteer organization.

AADAC also deals with

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

PERRON, Fleuri and Jo-Anne are pleased to announce the birth of Amy Lisa at the Sturgeon General Hospital, September 15, 1977. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Perron and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bachand. Thanks to Dr. Gray and staff at the Sturgeon General Hospital.

the spouse of a victim of drug abuse in an effort to give the spouse 'tools' with which he or she might motivate the person with the problem forward seeking more help.

The Treatment Centre conducts groups in several areas including an Information Series (providing information on alcoholism and other addictions), Spouses Group, a Carry-On group, Assertion (encouraging clients to deal with situations realistically), Communications Skills, and Counselling.

The Centre also runs a recreation program year round.

Any persons with drug or alcohol related problems are urged to contact Mrs. Raboud at the Health Clinic - 459-6671 or the Downtown Treatment Centre 427-2736.

Greater demand for coal seen in Canada

"Coal is back in fashion," according to the Bank of Montreal's September Business review. After decades of declining production, the industry now finds that its product is in greater demand as an electrical energy source, as an export to steel-producing countries and as a potential source of synthetic gas and oil.

Canada's total coal reserves are estimated at about 120 billion tons, or some 4,000 times 1976 production figures. Between 50 and 80 per cent would be recoverable with present technology but a great deal of this coal lies in environmentally sensitive areas.

Although these reserves will allow production for centuries to come, a high level of exports and a strong increase in domestic consumption would reduce Canada's stock of energy capital and pressure could arise to restrict exports and avoid a repetition of the depletion of this country's oil reserves.

However, "even when these constraints are allowed for, Canada's coal reserves are sufficient for centuries at the present rate of use. In addition, there may be large reserves in the islands of the high Arctic and under the seabed off the East Coast. . . . Given the concern over energy supply . . . these large coal stocks provide a comforting safety net for Canada".

The best prospects for growth for Canada's coal industry appear to be in electricity generation. This accounted for 29.6 per cent of total coal use in 1965 and 64.3 per cent in 1975. Domestic demand for thermal coal is expected to double again by 1990. There's also a chance that export markets will develop in Japan, south Korea, Mexico and Western Europe.

During the next few decades, the two leading contenders in the thermal market will be coal and nuclear fission. While Ontario Hydro intends to rely on a combination of the two, B.C., Alberta and Nova Scotia are planning to expand their use of coal.

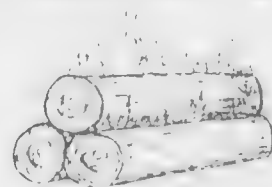

Canada's coal industry has expanded rapidly since 1969, largely because of increased demand from the steel industry, particularly by export customers in Japan. Although exports to Japan are expected to moderate, Canada's share of Japan's metallurgical coal imports is forecast to rise from the current 18 per cent to about 23 per cent in 1990.

Meanwhile, Canada's steel industry anticipate long-term growth, which may lead to a greater demand for Canadian coal. Traditionally, Ontario steel mills have imported coal from the U.S. because of the higher mining and transport costs for the Canadian product. But a switch to Canadian coal may have to be made, if American supplies available to Canada dwindle.

Although the production of synthetic fuels is centuries old, these processes have been generally uneconomic but a turnaround for the synthetic fuels industry resulted from the change in the relative prices of coal and oil. This has made existing and prospective coal conversion technologies economically more practical. And some countries with large coal reserves but dependent on oil imports could use conversion to help ensure an adequate domestic fuel supply.

WINNING A WORLD

When Andrew met Jesus the Bible says, "He first findeth his own brother Simon, and saith unto him, we have found the Messias, and he brought him to Jesus. In this same second chapter of John's gospel we find that when Philip met Jesus he findeth Nathanael, and saith unto him, We have found him, of whom Moses in the law, and the prophets did write, Jesus of Nazareth.

It is interesting to see the principle of multiplication as opposed to simple additions. Let me share with you some staggering figures. If one man could win one man to be a disciple of Christ per day for the next 10 years he would have won over 3500 people to Christ. But if the same man could win one person and thoughtfully disciple him in a six month period and train him to reproduce himself in the next generation of disciples and so on down the line -- each one taking a new man each six months, and thus doubling the number of trained disciples each six month period

-- the same 10 years period this man's efforts would result in the winning and discipling of over 500,000

Now your first thought is that this is idealistic and far-fetched but let me say that if only 10% of these people carry through it would still leave 50,000 disciples in a 10 year period.

This is the way the early church won the early world. By this method that turned the world upside down.

Members of St. Albert Historical Society visited Rundle Mission at Pigeon Lake, Saturday.

Now a national historic site, the Rundle Mission was begun in 1847 by the Rev. Robert Rundle, a young British Wesleyan minister and the first resident missionary of Alberta.

The Rev. Gerald M. Hutchinson, United Church minister and director of Rundle Mission, was host. The Rev. Hutchinson has been instrumental in uncovering and preserving the history of the Pigeon Lake site. He has written the introduction for the Robert T. Rundle Journals 1840-48, which will be published this fall by Alberta Records Publications Board.

Meeting the St. Albert visitors at a crossroads near the mission, he conducted them on a tour of the mission grounds before lunch.

The St. Albert visitors opened their boxed and bagged lunches in the dining hall of the retreat centre. Non-denominational, the log and stone structure was erected on the mission grounds by the United Church.

Lunch ended with rain falling outside. The group moved upstairs to hear Hutchinson continue the story of the Rundle Mission and to handle some of Rundle's fossil collection. He touched on the fur traders' influence, on Rundle's personality, the value of his records and the natural history of the Pigeon Lake area.

The St. Albert visitors, travelling on the Kinsmen bus, included Historical Society president, Renee Laird. Driver Ed Savoie, treated the group to an extended tour of the Pigeon Lake shore on the way home.

Culverts for beaver dams

Research carried out by the Alberta government's fish and wildlife division has indicated that specially designed culverts placed through beaver dams will control flooding.

Wood, metal and plastic (PVC) were all successfully used in these culverts, but the PVC material was the lightest and easiest to install according to the researchers. The 24' culverts had a diameter of six or eight inches. The inlet part of the culvert was perforated with a minimum of 210 or 275 three-quarter-inch holes, depending upon the diameter used. The actual inlet was then covered over with treated half-inch plywood or meshed wire to prevent the beavers from plugging the culvert.

The wooden culverts, used in the research projects, were constructed in two 12-foot sections. The metal and PVC models were constructed with a 20-foot drain section and a four-foot inlet section with perforations.

"In areas where it is desirable to maintain a scenic beaver pond adjacent to the road, as in a park, the culvert can be capped by stretching inner tubing over the outlet. If done before the middle of September, the volume of water in the pond should increase sufficiently to allow the beavers to survive during the winter. When these caps are removed in the spring, the water will drop to the desired level," and Alberta Agriculture news release stated.

"Conventional ways of removing beaver dams by blasting the dam and trapping the animals are repetitious, time-consuming and costly. In addition to damaging property in downstream areas, by the sudden release of water, and damaging nearby structures like road culverts, blasting often has a detrimental effect on valuable wildlife habitats through loss of water."

Information on installing and maintaining culverts designed to prevent flooding from beaver dams is contained in a folder entitled "Prevention of Road Flooding Caused by Beaver." It is available from local fish and wildlife offices, district agriculturalists, the Fish and Wildlife Division, 10363-108 Street, Edmonton, T5J 1L7, and the publications office, Alberta Agriculture, 9718-107 Street, Edmonton, T5K 2C8.

CB radio operators look up and look out

From Farm Light and Power
These are wise words to heed for people operating or installing Citizen Band radio and TV antennas.

Some people don't take the time to "Look Up" for obstructions such as power lines. As a result, many electrical accidents and fatalities have occurred.

Contact with electrical power lines is extremely dangerous, with high potential to cause death or serious injury.

In Alberta alone, a total of 250 power line contacts were reported to the Electrical Protection Branch during the period of April 1, 1976 to March 31, 1977.

Of these contacts, two resulted death and 25 in serious injuries to persons. It is known that some of these accidents were from the careless and thoughtless movement of CB radio or TV antennas. Other accidents have also been caused by truck, car and tractor vehicle antennas making contact with, or driving into power lines.

Some statistics:

Farmer received first and second degree burns to his hands and feet while setting up a CB antenna which contacted a 15,000 volt overhead power line.

Two men received second and third degree burns when moving a 55' radio aerial, contacting a 15,000 volt power line.

A youth received burns to both feet and hands and side of head while moving an antenna which contacted a 15,000 volt power line.

received second degree burns to the back of his left knee while removing a 31' CB antenna which contacted a 7000 volt line.

Many, probably all, of these electrical accidents could have been avoided.

Not all CB radios are going into trucks and cars. Many are being operated in residences, and this is where a serious problem has surfaced.

Home installations of CB radios require antennas usually mounted atop metal masts standing upright on the ground and rising to 50' or more in height. It's easiest for installers to "walk their antennas or masts into upright position, supporting them above by guy wires or the eave of the house.

Unfortunately, the antennas are so long that some installers walk them into contact with power lines which are 20' to 30' above the ground in most areas. Some CB antennas measure from 18' to over 50' before being mounted atop long metal masts.

Few antenna manufacturers enclose warnings to avoid power lines or even give a description of potential hazard.

Awareness of these hazards would be a strong prevention. CB enthusiasts should be aware that primary power lines are not insulated and that contact of those lines with home installed antennal can be fatal.

We recommend that all antennas be kept far away from power lines. If there is any doubt the safety of making an installation, hire professional help to do the job.

If existing antennas need to be moved, and there is the danger of touching power lines, call you local power company to help beforehand.

Lister wins Rookie of the Year

Matt Lister of the St. Albert Juniors was voted the rookie of the year in the Sturgeon Valley Men's Fastball League Saturday night at the league's first annual banquet and awards night in Spruce Grove.

Mr. Doug Johnston, owner of Grove Equipment presented his firm's trophy to Junior Coach Larry Mitchell as Matt was out of town.

Other award winners were Art Stevenson, Adrian Brule and Brian Monaghan who all tied with nine votes each as the best defensive players in the league.

The top offensive award went to young Darrel Poff of Spruce Grove KC's.

Art Stevenson of Calahoo took home the Ted's Meat Market Trophy as the league's most gentlemanly player.

MATT LISTER

The Umpire's Trophy for the league's most valuable player was presented by Dennis Kerr to Brian Monaghan of Devon.

Master of ceremonies, Larry Mitchell gave special thanks to Wilf and Gladys Callihoo who did a tremendous job as president and secretary of the league and also were the ones responsible for holding the league's first annual awards night.

From all indications it will be bigger and better than ever next season.

Arena open

Ice is in early this year in the St. Albert and District Arena. The early start means that St. Albert residents can take their skates and head down for a skate tomorrow night from 7:30 - 9 p.m. Public skating will also go Friday from 4:30 - 6 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 2:30 - 3 p.m. Next week's schedule calls for public skating on Wednesday and Friday from 7:30 - 9 p.m.

Saints falter in 3rd period

St. Albert Saints had a few too many defensive mistakes late in the third period and allowed the visiting Edmonton Crusaders to score three times and go on to win 9-6.

Comets open hockey camp Sunday

St. Albert Comets, of the Alberta Major Intermediate Hockey League and defending Alberta provincial intermediate "B" champs will open their training camp Sunday, September 25 at 10:30 p.m. in the St. Albert Arena.

Coach Kerry Ketter advised the Gazette that all positions are open and hopes that a number of local boys will be on the squad when the league opens October 18 in Camrose.

Players interested in attending the camp are asked to be at the arena no later than 9:45 so that they will be ready to take to the ice at 10:30.

Full equipment is required including sticks.

Other practice dates are: Tuesday, Sept. 27, 10:30 to 12 p.m.

Thursday, Sept. 29, 10:30 to 12 p.m.

Saturday, Oct. 1, 9 to 10:30 p.m.

Wednesday, Oct. 5, 10:30 to 12 p.m.

Friday, Oct. 7, 9 to 10 p.m.

Monday, Oct. 10, 8:30 to 10 p.m.

Tuesday, Oct. 11, 10:30 to 12 p.m.

Thursday, Oct. 13, 7:30 p.m. Exhibition game.

Saturday, Oct. 15, 10 to 12 p.m.

Sunday, Oct. 16, 9 to 10:30 p.m.

Saints were to have played the Medicine Hat Tigers but the Tigers bus broke down in Brooks and the Crusaders took their place.

Crusaders were never behind as they led 4-3 after the first period and were out in front 6-4 after 40 minutes of play.

St. Albert scored a pair of powerplay goals early in the third period to gain a tie but it didn't last long with the Crusaders scoring two quick goals midway through the period.

Bruce Jacobson had a pair of goals for the Saints while singles went to Mel O'Grady, Gary Frayn, Darrel Morrow and Mark Messier. Brian Hermanutz had a pair of assists for St. Albert.

Saints next exhibition game will be tonight in St. Albert when they play host to the visiting Red Deer club at 8 p.m.

Saints open their regular season play this weekend with games in Taber, Calgary and Pincher Creek.

Bantam goalies needed

Bantam aged goalies who have registered in the Kinsmen Minor Hockey program and would like to try out for the travelling team, are asked to contact Mr. Gerry Dux at 458-1111.

Helmuts Masonry Bantams win 5th city championship

St. Albert representative bantam soccer team, Helmut's Masonry, won their fifth championship in a row Sunday with a 1-0 win over Duggan, the South Side champs. St. Albert won the North Side championship in June.

Despite the close score the St. Albert club was in control of the game all the way. Coach Herman Kochan feels the Duggan team was probably the toughest opposition his team faced all year.

Four boys on the team, Paul Kelly, Rick Gray, Norman Odinga and Joe Ainsley, have played together for six years. In their first year they went to the city finals where they lost to Lauderdale. Two former Lauderdale players now play on the St. Albert team - James McEwan and Barry Syriste.

In Sunday's championship game Coach Kochan pulled Terry Nipp from the forward line and played him at full-back allowing Paul Kelly to go forward. The move paid off with Kelly scoring the only goal of the game in the first half.

The win at Coronation Park was put together by a team that really had the desire to win and it was the outstanding team work that took them to the championship.

Junior Saints host successful barbeque

The Junior Saints opened their exhibition season with a 7-6 loss to the Red Deer Rustlers last week. Their next game against the Edmonton Crusaders was played mostly by the Saints younger players and nerves got the best of them. They went down 6-1.

The intersquad game on Sunday had no sign of any nervousness and the boys played to a 5-5 tie, in a very entertaining game.

The barbeque following the game was well attended and enjoyed by all who came. The Junior Saints plan to make the event an annual affair.

The Saints extend a thank you to Swifts, Labatt's, R & S Produce and the Pop Shoppe for their support.

An exhibition game against the Red Deer Rustlers goes tonight at 8 in the St. Albert Arena.

The Saints will begin their regular season on the road with games against Taber Golden Suns, Pincher Creek, and the Calgary Canucks.

The St. Albert and District Hockey Association operators of the St. Albert Junior Saints Junior "A" hockey club regret to advise that as of September 19, they no longer have a working arrangement with the Sturgeon and District Hockey Association.

The Junior "B" team known as the Sturgeon Generals were to operate out of Morinville.

At the moment the executive of the St. Albert and District Hockey Association are trying to make some other arrangements so the players will have a place to play hockey this season.

They sincerely regret this happening, but had no control and will do their best to make other arrangements.

Comets one of nine teams preparing for AMIHL season

Nine teams are busy preparing for upcoming season in the highly rated Alberta Major Intermediate Hockey League.

Returning for the second year under the new league name are Edmonton Bruins, Sherwood Park Barons, St. Albert Comets, Wetaskiwin Colonels, Enoch Tomahawks, Stony Plain Eagles, Camrose Maroons, Fort Saskatchewan Huskies and a new entry the Drayton Valley Rebels.

St. Albert fans had a brief look at the Rebels' in provincial play last season when the Comets easily defeated them in two straight games.

Westlock Eagles have been granted a year's leave of absence due to a player shortage problem, although their have been rumors that the Eagles will play in the weaker Northwest League with teams from Barhead, Whitecourt, Edson, Mayerthorpe, Jasper and Grande Cache.

Stettler Imperials also made an effort to enter the AMIHL but their request was turned down.

The 1977-78 schedule will see a total of 162 league games played with each club playing 36 times.

The season opener will have Enogh Tomahawks travelling to Sherwood Park on October 16, and the final game will be played February 28.

St. Albert Comets first home game will be Sunday, October 23 when the Tomahawks will be here for an 8 p.m. game.

The annual all-star game will be played Saturday, January 28 in Sherwood Park and the league will also play some exhibition contests with Calgary, Okotoks and possibly a couple of teams from British Columbia.

For the first time in several years, Alberta will have a representative in the senior division competing for the prestigious Allan Cup. The Edmonton Bruins and Drumheller Miners have made application to enter in the "A" playoffs.

Bill Mojelski of Wetaskiwin has succeeded Freeman Fawcett as the league governor and will also serve as the chairman of the board of commissioners.

The other two board members are Ron Bardak from Stony Plain and Ron Emmerling of Wetaskiwin.

League executive members are Ross Tyson (secretary), Chet Evans (vice-pres.), Tony Ferguson (treasurer), Bill LaForge (public relations).

Doug McAvoy of the AAHL Referees Committee will act as league liaison with Ray Marsh of Red Deer as the Intermediate Council chairman. All teams have their league schedules out.

The fine calibre of intermediate play within the league is indicated by the invitation of Darrel Meyers of Sherwood Park to the training camp of the Edmonton Oilers. Darrell was the league scoring champ with 43 goals and 46 assists.

St. Albert Comets have a pair of players of the same calibre in Rich Perrault and Bob Beaulieu. Neither one would have looked out of place on the Oiler blueline last season.

Comet President Claude Contant advised the Gazette

Monday night that season ticket sales are on the upswing and he hopes to have a couple of hundred sold before the first game.

There are still some openings on the Comet board of directors and these wishing to help are asked to attend a meeting at 33 Fenwick Crescent, Thursday evening at 8 p.m.

Gene Miller leading barebacks competition

With just four rodeos left in the 1977 Canadian professional rodeo season, the list of finalists eligible for the fourth annual Canadian Finals Rodeo is rapidly taking shape. Rodeos in Lacombe, September 30 and October 1, Claresholm, October 1 and 2, Vermilion, October 14 and 15 and Caroline also October 14 and 15 round out the year.

Right now it looks like the only 1976 Champion in doubt of returning to this year's Finals is Wilf Hyland of Airdrie, Alberta, last year's Saddle Bronc Champion. Tom Bews of Pekisko, Alberta, four times Canadian All Around Champion including last year, is 8th in Saddle Bronc Riding now, but may be pressured by several cowboys close behind him. Even though Tom is fourth in the current all around standings, he must qualify in at least one event to make the finals.

Those who seen assured of another shot at the Canadian Championships and a chance to retain their 1976 titles are Gene Miller of Busby, Alberta in Bareback, Brian Claypool of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan in Bull Riding, Bill Reeder of Cardston, Alberta in Calf Roping and Lee Phillips of Carseland, Alberta in Steer Wrestling. The 1976 Boys' Steer Riding Champion, Bruce Kostelansky of Lethbridge and perennial Ladies' Barrel Racing Champion, Jerri Duce of Granum, Alberta are leading in their respective events.

To be eligible for the finals, contestants must finish the year in the top ten in the five major rodeo events (saddle bronc, bareback, bull riding, calf roping and steer wrestling), in the top six in Novice Saddle Bronc and Boys' Steer Riding, in the top ten in Ladies' Barrel Racing and in the top five in Cattle Cutting.

Tickets for the six performance Canadian Finals Rodeo are $5.00, $6.00 or $7.00 for single performances, or season tickets for the same seat at all six performances are available at $20.00, $25.00 or $30.00. Rodeo times are 8:00 p.m. November 9, 8:12 and 2:00 p.m. November 12 and 13. Tickets are on sale now at the Coliseum Box Office, all four Edmonton Woodward Stores, the Bonnie Down Mall and Hub Mall at the U of A.

St. Albert Figure Skating Club

A general meeting will be held on Tuesday, September 27 at 8 p.m. in the Akinsdale Clubhouse. This will be an informational meeting to discuss ice fees, the skating program schedule, ice time and skating groups for the 1977-78 season. Skating equipment information will be distributed. Information on club jackets, pins and charms will be available.

This training program is open to all members of the St. Albert Figure Skating Club. The ice fees will be required at this meeting, so it is important that parents attend.

There will be an open registration for all children who want to take figure skating lessons but who have not had the opportunity due to lack of facilities. We are having this registration to determine how many skaters will have to be accommodated when the new arena opens. This registration will take place on October 12 from 4-6:30 p.m. in the St. Albert Arena on Perron Street.

Anyone wishing to register

Fall interpretive program at Elk Island National Park

This fall in Elk Island National Park, the park naturalists will be leading hikes to all parts of the park to watch the beaver at their lodges, listen for the bugle of the elk, look for signs of animals preparing for winter, or learn how plants and animals have evolved to survive under the ice.

To many people, this is one of the most exciting times of year, when deep blue skies, brilliant colors of leaves and cold crisp air combine to make an afternoon walk an exhilarating experience. Beaver are actively preparing for winter, pushing branches of aspen into the mud at the bottom of ponds near their lodges, so they have food for the winter without having to come out on top of the ice. Migrating birds respond to the lure of warmer places, leaving almost empty forests and fields, and the many ponds and lakes of the park. Buffalo begin to grow their thick, shaggy coats as a protection against winter storms.

The park naturalists are conducting hikes every Sunday at 2 p.m. Meet at the south gate about half a mile north of Highway 16. For further information, call Elk Island National Park at 998-3781 and ask for the Interpretive Service. Come out to the park next Sunday and experience fall in Elk Island National Park.

The army recruit complained to the sergeant about sand in his soup.

"You came here to serve your country, not complain about the food," thundered the sergeant.

"Yes, but I came to serve my country, not eat it."

ST. ALBERT BADMINTON CLUB ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting will be held on Thursday, September 22 at Akinsdale Clubhouse, commencing 8:30 p.m.

Last years reports will be presented. Fee structure and playing policy will be discussed.

Past members and interested new members should attend.

Playoff race tightens in Bantam Soccer League

With the Bullets secure at the top of the standings in the Hercules Bantam Soccer House League, the race for the second and final playoff spot continues.

On Monday the Arrows jeopardized their playoff chances when the Bullets came back with three goals in the last 25 minutes to them 5-5. The other game Monday saw the Cannons take an easy 4-1 over the sputtering Rockets.

Wednesday's games, cancelled due to rain, were made up on Thursday and Sunday. In a game which could have gone either way Thursday the Bullets squeaked out a 2-1 decision over the Rockets.

Sunday's contest was do or die for the Arrows when they faced the Cannons. An Arrow loss would have virtually assured the Cannons a playoff spot but the Arrows came up with a solid game to win 7-4 leaving them one point ahead.

The final league game goes Wednesday night with the final to be played Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at Sir George Simpson pitch.

Shane Jaffer of the Arrows wins player of the week honours for his solid two-way play in last week's games. Shane scored six goals and picked up one assist in the two games moving him into third place in the scoring. He had a big game Sunday, particularly on defense to put his team in the drivers seat for the final playoff position.

Tomorrow night the House League Allstars will take on Helmut's Masonry in an exhibition game at Simpson. Game time is 6:30. Helmut's Masonry won the city championship for the fifth time in a row on the weekend (see story).

Mini basketball program organizing for 2nd year

Planning is underway for the second season in the Mini Basketball program, and this year the Knights of Columbus are trying to take care of boys in the 8-12 age group as well as girls. The program was initiated last year because of the Knights concern that while hockey absorbed about 1,000 boys, there was a need for a vigorous sports program for younger girls.

Mr. Al Alain, co-ordinator, said that the Knights are also aware that boys not interested in hockey would like to get into mini basketball. "We will need an excess of 50 coaches, plus referees," said Mr. Alain "and if we are not able to get sufficient help we will have to reduce the boys program first." Coaching help from high school students will again be welcomed.

The program will again be run Saturday mornings in various school gyms and registration will take place during the first two weeks in October. Fee of $10 per child or $25 per family includes a team T-shirt and an end-of-season team photo. The organizers are expecting anywhere from 4 - 600 kids. "It's difficult to predict," said Mr. Alain, adding that last year there were 230 girls in the program.

An organization meeting will be held September 28 in the upstairs room of the Lacombe Park Clubhouse, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is open to parents, coaches and anyone interested in mini basketball. The organizers are also aiming at coaches and referees clinics, probably on October 22.

The season will run from October 29 to March 18 and tournaments are planned for November 19 and one to terminate the season.

Minor hockey expects same number of teams

The Kinsmen Minor Hockey Association have now completed their registrations for the coming season and it appears that the final total will be slightly lower than last season, when just over 1,000 took part.

No official breakdown on the number of boys in each division has been made to date, but about the same number of teams as last year is expected. Late registrations are now being accepted at the City of St. Albert Parks and Recreation office on Muir Drive with a fee of $5 being added to the initial cost.

Teams are now being made up and coaches should have their lists of players within the next two weeks.

Association coaches and referees clinics will be held the first week in October with all classroom sessions being in the Percy Page Centre.

The referees clinic, under chairman Walter Popik will start at 9 a.m. Saturday morning October 1 and also at the same time on Sunday.

The coaches clinics for level 1 and 2 participants will be held October 3, 4, 5 and 6 also at 9 a.m. all days. A fee of $5 will be charged.

Three games last week in Pee wee football

Last Wednesday saw the Willowbrook squad beat out Carma 19 to 0. Most of the scoring took place in the opening quarter.

Craig Rusnak started it off with a 35 yard touchdown run. The convert was no good, but Willowbrook came on again with an interception by #59. Craig Iseke went the 25 yards for the major, but it was called back. Willowbrook did manage a single point after these efforts, with an end zone kick.

Craig Rusnak again put six on the board on a major from the 35, and again the convert was no good, which made the score 13-0 at the end of the first.

Carma had a good chance in the second quarter, starting with a 40 yard drive to Willowbrook's 15, where their hopes were dashed on an unfortunate fumble, recovered by Willowbrook.

There weren't any more points scored until the fourth quarter, but #29 for Carma made the play for a touchdown, which was called back in the third. Willowbrook ended the scoring, on a quarterback sneak for six points.

Willowbrook went on to play Akins on Saturday in a very close match. Craig Rusnak set up their first touchdown, with a 30 yard run from their own 35, and then counted the major with an eight yard run into the end zone. Craig Iseke made the convert good for one.

Willowbrook came up with the only point for the rest of the half with a point kick into the end zone.

Akins came back in the third quarter, when Marvin Cey went 40 yards on an end sweep, which was backed up by a reverse to Steven Kahn for another 20 yards. Marvin Cey went in from the 10 for Akins first points.

Willowbrook also put a major on the board, when Brent Sedgewick went 20 yards on an end run. The convert was blocked. Brent Lewis, #43 was injured at this point, and it seemed to hurt Willowbrook's game.

Akins came out strong in the fourth, scoring two touchdowns to win 18-14. Their first six came on a 15 yard reverse by Steve Kahn. Then with three plays left in the game, Patrick Proulx recovered a fumble. Marvin Cey made 10 yards, and then on the last play of the game, Marty Hoffart went the 10 yards for the winning points.

Standard General met Carma on Saturday winning 14-0. All scoring took place in the first quarter. Brian Warren returned the kick off 60 yards for a touchdown, which was followed by a major from Robin Ganton. Garth Desrosiers made the convert good for two points.

Alberta places second in western Canadian soccer

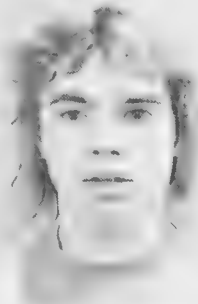

Alberta's all-star midget soccer club were narrowly defeated on September 9 - 11 at the annual Western Canada Selects tournament in Calgary.

The defending champion British Columbia squad won again.

The Selects were composed of 20 players chosen from the province. Ten players of the team play on Edmonton teams including Steven Aldred, Keith Heyburn and Christiaan Odinga of St. Albert.

The coaches of the team were Kermit Newman of Calgary and St. Albert's Herman Kochan. Peter Hancock of St. Albert co-or-minated the team's affairs and Bert Goldberger is the technical director of the Alberta Soccer Association. All four are very dedicated to soccer and did a superb job.

CHRISTIAAN ODINGA

On the opening day they lost 3-1 to British Columbia. Keith Heyburn scored the only goal. The next day in the afternoon, the team recorded an 8-1 victory over Saskatchewan. The final game against Manitoba was better matched as the Alberta squad posted a 2-0 victory.

KEITH HEYBURN

The team was accommodated at the Holiday Inn with expenses paid by the Alberta Soccer Association. They were treated very well and had a very enjoyable time.

Local Midgets drop close game in city soccer final

STEVEN ALDRED

The strong showing by Alberta, the highest to date, was in indication of the growing popularity of the sport in this province. The B.C. players, coming from the greater Vancouver area had the opportunity to practise together whereas the Alberta team, made up of Calgary and Edmonton area players could not do so because of the distance involved.

Monday night the Victoria Club midgets coached by Herman Kochan lost a close game to the South Side Legion in the City Midget soccer final.

The winning goal in the 3-2 game came on a controversial play with about 20 minutes left.

Keith Heyburn, Steven Aldred and Chris Odinga of St. Albert play on the Victoria Club team.

Victoria carried the play throughout most of the game but couldn't put the ball past an agile Legion goaltender. The winning goal, coming off an alleged hand ball, took the steam out of the Victoria team.

K of C's clobber Vern Muth Sales Thorsby

Things got off to a slow start Sunday, when the St. Albert K of C's met the squad from Thorsby. St. Albert managed to block a field goal, but the scoring happened in the second quarter.

Craig Dickie came up with a 40 yard run through the line, which put St. Albert on the board, and John Tworek added the single.

Kerry Meyer came up with a 55 yard run for Thorsby, but this gain was nullified by a holding penalty.

John Tworek, who is second in the league for both kickoffs and punting added two more points on singles, one was a 40 yarder.

St. Albert came out strong in the second half, scoring two touchdowns in the third. The first came on a 60 yard drive, with a 10 yard run by Kevin Plaisant. Tracy Fizzell added two runs of 12 and 25 yards to take the ball to Vern Muth's 10. Craig Dickie ran it in for a 15-0 lead. The convert was no good.

Brent Biollo set up the second major of the third on an interception near mid-field. Tracy Fizzell pulled off a tremendous 47 yard run and made the counter. Again the convert was no good.

Vern Muth scored in the fourth, on a 75 yard run by Kerry Meyer, but St. Albert got last licks on a 55 yard drive in two plays, which combined a 20 yard pass to Kevin Plaisant and a 35 yard run by John Tworek. Again the convert was no good, but St. Albert charged on.

Craig Dickie went 15 yards for a major following a 33 yard drive, and followed that with another major. The final touchdown started on St.

Albert's own 53 yard line, but 35 yards of penalties took them back to their own 18. Craig made an 85 yard run for the touchdown. Both convert attempts were no good, leaving the score at 39 to 6. St. Albert's powerful defense has allowed only 5½ points per game average.

St. Albert

capture city title

The St. Albert Peewee soccer team coached by Manuel Viveiros took the Edmonton city championship with an easy victory over the favoured Royal Gardens club Saturday at Coronation Park. The score was 4-1. Stephan Johanson scored twice with Manuel Viveiros and David Clark picking up singles.

The St. Albert club had little trouble with the Royal Gardens club which as a mite team won the Alberta championship two years ago and reached the City final last year in peewees.

St. Albert worked together as a team and played a mistake-free game. They travel to Calgary Sunday to play for the Alberta championship against a team from Calgary. The game will be played at Renfrew Park at 1 p.m.

Dear Wayne - I will say right off that I am not an authority on wildlife, but why do most of the pictures you see of moose show them knee deep in water? Eileen B.

Dear Eileen - All living animals are apt to frequent areas which hold their food supply, and so it is with the moose.

The moose is very fond of the various water plants which lie below the surface of ponds and lakes. He will stand in the water for hours, frequently poking his head and neck below the surface to gather a mouthful. Particularly in summer, these underwater plants make up a large portion of his diet. He is also a browser and will nip off branch tips and buds.

In summer, this water haven serves the added benefit of offering relief from the swarms of flies and mosquitoes which plague the moose.

Dear Wayne - I have a 25-06 rifle that is very accurate but it appears that the stock is too long for me. How can I determine what length it should be? John A.

Dear John - Most rifles and shotguns are made to fairly standard stock specifications. Their aim, of course, is to fit the "average" person. If you are taller or shorter than what might be normal, the stock often needs modification. The "once in a while" shooter most often accepts the stock as it is. The shooter who burns many cartridges or shells is much more apt to insist on proper fit.

One of the best ways I know of determining proper fit is to visit a gun dealer or gunsmith and try various lengths. When the correct length is found, get the stock measurement and have your stock altered accordingly.

National meat authority needed?

"Canadian livestock producers need a National Meat Authority."

That comment came from National Farmers Union Regional Co-ordinator Bill Dascavich as a result of the confrontation between the Alberta Hog Producers Marketing Board and major meat packers in Alberta.

The AHPMB sought to influence prices by asking producers to hold back deliveries. Major packers protested vigorously and refused to bid competitively.

Dascavich said he was "not surprised that the packers resisted any move to change their position, and resorted to what amounted to a 'buyers' strike against Alberta hog producers, rather than yield to the Board's efforts to achieve parity with other North American markets.

"The NFU has for several years maintained that the marketing board system is often too narrowly based on a one-province jurisdiction because corporate buyers of the product usually have too many alternative sources of supply for a product, either within the country or through imports, to enable a board any effective bargaining role.

"Packers tolerate marketing boards so long as they are functional in meeting their needs as corporate buyers. It appears, however, that interference by boards to meet the needs of primary producers is not acceptable to the major packers."

According to AHPMB spokesmen, Alberta producers were being paid about 10% less than the average North American market, while Alberta consumers were paying about 10% more than the average North American retail price.

Dascavich said a National Meat Authority would provide producers with a price that would cover their production costs, and would ensure consumers a consistent supply of high quality product at a reasonable price.

St. Albert Gym Club

St. Albert is fortunate to have two superb instructors for boys gymnastics.

David Durrant and Randy Jones are both third year physical education students at the University of Alberta. They are both members of the Golden Bears gym team. Dave has been teaching sport classes for children for four years and Randy for three years. Both are fully qualified Level 1 gymnastics instructors.

The School Act, 1970

BYLAW NO. 2/77

By the Board of Trustees of the Province of Alberta.

WHEREAS it is deemed expedient by the Board of Trustees of the St. Albert Protestant Separate School District #6, of the Province of Alberta, that the sum of Three Hundred and Thirty Thousand Dollars ($330,000) should be borrowed on the security of the said District by issue of debentures repayable to the bearer in 25 consecutive annual instalments with interest at the rate of not more than twelve percent (12%) per annum for the following purposes, namely:

- | | |
|---|-----------|
| a) Site Improvement | $ 5,000 |
| b) Providing eight (8) Portable Classrooms at an estimated | $290,000 |
| c) Architect Fees | $ 20,650 |
| d) Furniture and Equipment | $ 14,350 |
| e) at the Lacombe Park Core School Site No. 2 in the City of St. Albert | |

THEREFORE, notice is hereby given by the Board of the said School District that unless a poll of the electors of the said School District for and against the said debenture loan is demanded, as provided by Section 104 of The School Act, 1970, the said Board will apply to the Local Authorities Board for authority to borrow the said sum by issue of debentures.

Of which all persons interested are hereby notified, and they are required to govern themselves accordingly.

CHAIRMAN

CHAIRMAN

Dated at St. Albert this 14th day of September, 1977.

INSTRUCTIONS TO ELECTORS PETITIONING FOR A VOTE ON A MONEY BYLAW
IN A SCHOOL DISTRICT/DIVISION - [Sections 2(c), 3 and 104 - The School Act, 1970]

"Elector" for the purposes of petition for a vote on a debenture bylaw means a person:

- 18 years of age or older
- who is a Canadian citizen, and
- resident, in the case of a petition, in the district or division in which the petition is to be presented on the day upon which he signed the petition, and who has been a resident of Alberta for the six consecutive months immediately preceding nomination day or the day upon which he signed the petition, as the case may be.

A poll respecting the aforementioned borrowing may be demanded in a School District/Division by preparing and submitting to the School Board a petition for a vote in accordance with the provisions of Section 2(c), 3 and 104 of The School Act, 1970.

The petition must be signed by at least

- 2 percent of the electors in a district or division having 10,000 electors or more, or
- 5 percent of the electors in a district or division having less than 10,000 but 5,000 electors or more, or
- 10 percent of the electors in a district or division having less than 5,000 electors but 500 electors or more, or
- 15 percent of the electors in a district or division having less than 500 electors, and be filed with the Board within 15 days of the last publication in a newspaper of the public notice of the proposed debenture borrowing.

Ontario cattle producers may soon be able to sell their cattle on a carcass basis at auction.

Most slaughter cattle marketed in Ontario are sold on a liveweight basis. However, a committee representing farmers, packers, commission agents, the Ontario Public

Agriculture Canada scientists in Saskatoon, Sask., are experimenting with a new biological weapon in the war

and the Ontario Public Stockyards are considering

The biological weapon is a disease called Nosema. Researchers say it could wipe out large numbers of grasshoppers without damaging other organisms. It could also cut down on the use of chemical sprays for grass-

Small-scale field trials with Nosema began this year.

Sturgeon Gazette

Students are victims in schools dispute

About 60 students in the Morinville area are still not being bused to their schools because of a dispute with the Sturgeon School Division #24.

The Sturgeon School Division recently stopped busing the students who fall within Thibault School District boundaries three miles north of Morinville; parents countered by requesting the Education Minister to provide transportation for their children into Morinville.

One Morinville resident Roger Vansevenandt told the Gazette Tuesday he's driving his kids to school and seemed to be resigned to an impasse in getting the busing problem solved.

Superintendent of the Sturgeon School Division Frank Robinson says that if the parents want transportation and want their children back in Sturgeon school division classrooms, then this will be provided.

He says the issue is not over French, or religious instruction in the Thibault jurisdiction, but that residents see Morinville as a market town.

If the parents involved want to send their children to the Thibault School Division, Mr. Robinson says they can but they will be liable for transportation and tuition costs.

Thibault has a number of schools in Morinville which are used by local residents; they are the Georges P. Vanier school, the "Yellow" school, and a new school, soon to open in one of Morinville's new subdivisions.

Schools under the Sturgeon jurisdiction are at Camilla, Sturgeon Heights and Namas.

The conflict with the parents, and the various school jurisdictions has a long history, going back about 25 years.

At one point, it looked as though the Thibault school division would extend its boundaries by land transfer to circumvent the kind of problems which have just recently erupted in the vicinity.

election to the MD council representing District Four.

Mr. Berube made the decision after he was approached by several people to seek the position.

His main concern at present is the state of the roads in the Calahoo, Villeneuve and Riviere Qui Barre area. For those who travel these roads, this concern is very easy to understand.

Another area which Mr. Berube would like to see worked on is the recreational set-up which he feels could use some improvement.

He has 15 years experience in road contracting and land development following a 19 year stint in pipeline construction. He has been active in both federal and provincial election campaigns and presently sits on the Board of Directors of a company formed by the Alexander Band concerned with summer residential on Sandy Lake.

Mr. Berube feels the experience he has gained from travelling other parts of Alberta and Canada, where he saw how others solved their problems similar to those now affecting Division Four, will be valuable in assisting the residents of West Sturgeon.

Mr. Berube, 41, his wife Anne and four children, Charlene, Tracy, Grant and Mark, make their home in the area where Moe has lived all his life.

Meetings may solve RQB lagoon problem

It seems as if a string of meetings are in the offing to solve a sewer lagoon/subdivision related issue in the hamlet of Riviere Qui Barre.

A spokesman for the MD of Sturgeon told the Gazette Tuesday afternoon, Sturgeon is going to reapply for a sewer lagoon licence for the hamlet and added that a further meeting with the MD and the hamlet ratepayers might be beneficial.

Last week Sturgeon received a petition signed by 18 Riviere Qui Barre ratepayers that would allow for the lagoon, provided that residents had the first right of hook-up.

The possibility of a sewer lagoon ties in with a proposal for a country residential subdivision near the hamlet. Please turn to page 38

Red Barn is stopping point for eastern farmers

One hundred and twenty-two visitors from Quebec and Ontario interested in buying farm implements from western Canada stopped off to visit the Red Barn near Lily Lake last week.

Hosting the visitors were owner of the Red Barn Walter Jerram, local dignitary St. Albert MLA Ernie Jamison, and "interpreter-hosts" Mr. and Mrs. George Montpetit, with Mr. and Mrs. Leo Maurier.

Although some of the Canadians visiting the west could not speak English, there seems to have been little problem in communication because local "interpreters" were on hand to solve any communications problem.

Vandalism may lead to changes in Morinville

Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Wojtkiw entered the Morinville Town Office as a regular part of her employment as caretaker of the premises. However, it was not a regular day's activity.

Some witless individual inserted the town's yard hose between the back doors of the town office, turned on some pressure, and hastily made his (her) escape. A portion of the water made its way harmlessly down the outside steps and back to Mother Nature, but the overflow ran under the locked back door and became an instrument of destruction. Mayor Stapleton estimates the overall damage at around $6,000.00.

The upper floor appears to have suffered little, with only a few supplies realizing excessive water damage, but there is a chance that the carpets in the council chambers and mayor's office will have to be replaced, as well as the carpeting in the main office. This would result in quite a cost. (Hopefully, the new computer setup has escaped damage).

The lower floor was covered to a depth of four inches on Sunday when the vandalism was discovered. The linoleum is curling and spitting glue, and will more than likely have to be replaced. Where the water soaked through the ceiling, there is extensive damage to the ceiling tiles and walls. The water coursed through an old vent which led to the stationary cabinet, which has rendered most of the printed forms, letterheads, envelopes and the like, totally useless.

An RCMP Constable remarked that the area behind the town office is secluded, unlighted, and not visible to any residence. He further commented that there was an ongoing problem with juveniles between the ages of 14 and 17 who gather in small groups and wander about the town "finding things to do". Obviously some of them are finding the wrong things to do.

The Notre Dame Convent also suffered some damage recently, with windows being broken and various other

Mayor Art Stapleton replied to the vandalism, saying, "If the incidents of vandalism in Morinville don't moderate, the town may have to employ a type of security officer to check buildings in the dark hours, from 6 to 6. Of course this will be an added burden to the taxpayer, but somewhere down the line these costs must be met."

He went on to say that it would wind up as a responsibility of the parents, whether financially through taxes, or by running tighter rein on their children.

The mayor asserted, "The point is that it'll cost us all in the end, myself, the innocent citizens, as well as the parents of the children who are responsible for these acts."

Mr. Stapleton told the Gazette there had been pressure on council to instigate a curfew in the town. Here again the liberties of the majority would be encroached by the actions of a few.

MAYOR ART STAPLETON gave the Gazette reporter a guided tour of the water damage caused by vandals in the town office last weekend, here, pointing out some ceiling tiles which were ruined by large amounts of water that seeped through from the upper floor.

Fall - applied granular herbicide can save time next spring

As many farmers know all too well, wild oats continue as Canada's number one weed problem. However, there are certain chemical

but the land at SW 29-55-26, following a recent development meeting of Sturgeon, would first have to be reclassified from low density agricultural to country residential.

Among other conditions, the residents want any lagoon bermed and treed and they also want Alberta Transportation to open up the north road for access to the community.

Land which has been exchanged for the lagoon is also wanted for recreation purposes by the community.

But as far as the building of the lagoon is concerned, that will have to meet with the requirements of Alberta Environment.

According to the spokesman for the MD, Sturgeon will not be able to develop the lagoon if these requirements cannot be met.

PUBLIC NOTICE M.D. OF STURGEON THE WATER RESOURCES ACT

Notice is hereby given that the M.D. of Sturgeon has filed an application and plans under provisions of the Water Resources Act to construct drainage works from the N $\frac{1}{2}$ 33-55-25-4 to SE 33-55-25-4.

Any person having a bona fide interest in the matter may file objections with the Controller of Water Resources, Department of The Environment, Oxbridge Place, Edmonton on or before the 14th day of October, 1977.

control measures farmers can take now, in the fall, to control wild oats next spring -- before they severely affect crop yield.

Avadex BW herbicide has demonstrated good control of wild oats in wheat, flax, rape, mustard, and sugar beets. The preemergent chemical, applied before wild oats emerge, can be applied to fields for effective wild oat control in spring or fall.

Available in both liquid and granular forms, Avadex BW is activated in the spring in the soil under warm, moist conditions. After it is incorporated into the soil, the herbicide is absorbed by soil particles and can then go to work controlling germinating wild oats. As the wild oat shoot is pushed up through the treated soil, the weed is controlled.

Fall application of Avadex BW should take place between October 1 and freeze-up for maximum effectiveness. The ground has cooled off then, insuring that the Avadex BW will not be activated until the following spring.

When planning wild oat control measures, the farmer might well consider the advantages of fall-applied Avadex BW herbicide which include:

1. Consistent wild oat control the following spring, before the weeds emerge to compete with the crop for light, moisture, and nutrients.
2. Saving time and labour next spring, as well as taking the pressure off spring work schedules.
3. Higher yields from using a preemergent herbicide, again because it controls wild oats before they have a chance to compete.

4. Flexibility in crop choice next spring. After applying Avadex BW in the fall, the farmer can wait until spring to decide whether to plant wheat, barley, rape-seed, mustard, flax, or sugar beets.

5. Time allows the chemical to be distributed more thoroughly throughout the surface layer with proper incorporation.

6. The danger of wind and rain interfering with the critical application time of a postemergent chemical is avoided since the chemical is already in the ground.

If fall-applied, granular Avadex BW is preferred over liquid. The granular method adds the benefit that the chemical can be applied to stubble and trashy fields. Provided the correct tillage equipment is used, granules can be incorporated into the soil while still maintaining stubble or trash on the soil surface.

Has near battle with skunk

By Beryl Bailey

The James Doidges have been busy since returning from Mallorca Spain a few weeks ago. A double garage and cement sidewalk and patio corner have been added to their property.

Mrs. John Bailey was greatly surprised one night recently to be confronted with a large skunk on her side lawn while walking her dog around midnight. Thinking it a black and white cat at first when approaching it, she beat a hasty retreat upon seeing it prepare for battle.

The sewer system was held up for a time due to the constant rain, but inbetween rainy periods when possible and the past two days no rain, once again it is being worked upon. It is hoped this coming week of September 12 to get the pumps installed at each home.

TROPHY WON FOR VEGETABLES

Mrs. M. Davidson entered vegetables in the Pickardville Garden Show and was lucky in winning a trophy and a garden rake for having the most points in vegetables. She also won three first prizes for her Tuberose Begonias. Congratulations Chris.

Mr. and Mrs. J. (Sandy) Arlow had Mrs. Arlow's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Huchzermeyer of Golden, B.C. visiting them, with them were Mr. Huchzermeyer's sister and sister-in-law from Germany whom they were taking on a tour of Alberta and points in Saskatchewan visiting relatives.

Later in August Mr. and Mrs. Arlow with daughter Arlene, spent ten days visiting Mrs. Arlow's relatives in Vernon B.C. for the celebration of her mother's 81 birthday and the 25 wedding anniversary of her brother and wife.

Going on from Vernon to Vancouver Island for fishing at Campbell River and visiting relatives and friends at points on mainland on the return trip home. Previous to their trip Arlene enjoyed a week's holiday at the 4H Conservation Camp at Sundre Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Arlow holidayed in the Maritimes where they spent sometime with Mrs. Arlow's mother, Mrs. Eileen De Merchant in Bath N.B.

Sturgeon cleaned near Lac St. Anne

Alberta environment has started cleaning weeds from a two - mile section of the Sturgeon River to reduce the abnormally high water levels in Lac St. Anne.

The weed clearing should increase the speed of the river flow and allow the lake

Lac St. Anne normally declines by 12 to 13 inches during the summer but this year it has remained about the same level since early June.

Cottage owners around the lake are concerned that the high water will cause erosion along the shoreline. It could also lead to ice damage in the winter and during Spring break - up. If the lake level is high and a heavy spring runoff occurs, there is the danger that some cottages may be flooded.

While summer rains have contributed to the lake remaining high, and equal important factor is the decline in the amount of water running out of the lake. Flows were 148 cubic feet per second on June 3, but they have declined to 45 cubic feet per second Aug. 31.

The Department of Recreation, Parks and Wildlife has removed any beaver dams that could restrict the flow out of the lake. The channel will be kept clear of dams for the two - mile stretch below the lake outlet.

Alberta environment is using a Back - hoe type machine that will be able to travel down the river bed scraping the weeds to the side. The river varies from about 40 to 60 feet in width; a channel about 20 feet wide will be cleared.

Beef cattle more than just hamburger

One fact, however, overlooked when the value of feeding cattle for food is discussed, is the by - products that come from these animals after slaughter for food. There's a lot more than hamburger and steak that makes its way to the marketplace from the slaughterhouse.

Al Best, director of research at Sperry New Holland a manufacturer of farm machinery for the cattle and grain industry, says the benefits from beef by - products go far beyond food.

"Most people would never even think of beef animals as a source of life - saving pharmaceuticals," says

Best. "However, it takes the pancreas gland from about 45 million cattle to keep the diabetics in America supplied with insulin."

There are estimated five million diabetics in the U.S. and about one - fourth of them require daily insulin treatments, some cattle industry people believe there may eventually be a federal requirement calling for mandatory salvaging of pancreas glands by all beef slaughterers, regardless of economic returns for the industry.

another medical by - product comes from ox bile from the animal's liver. This is used to manufacture the drug cortisone. From lungs come extracts to be used in production of Heparin, used for blood control during operations. Heparin is also used for treatment in preventing gangrene and as a burn treatment.

The small intestines are used in manufacture of surgical sutures. Spinal cords are the beginning of sex hormone formulas. Pituitary glands from cattle produce growth hormones for humans.

There are non - medical by - products as well. Strings for musical instruments, lubricants from fats, gelatin from bones. All come from beef animals. But it is the pharmaceuticals that really count.

"More than 100 life - saving, life - improving drugs in current use can be derived from a beef animal," says Best.

FACILITY MANAGER WANTED

Facility manager is required in Legal to manage a curling rink and arena, both run by artificial ice. The successful applicant will be responsible for operating complex on a basis of 70 to 90 hours per week from November 1 to March 31. He will be responsible for all facets of operation and will report directly to the Management Committee. The job will be awarded on a contract basis and the lowest bid will not necessarily be one accepted. Applicants must have experience in facility operation, preferably with artificial ice. Western Premiers request action on hall report commission (hall commission) and have called for a meeting with the Prime Minister in Calgary at his earliest convenience.

The Premiers of the four Western Provinces have expressed deep concern over the

The request and concern was contained in a letter sent to Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau by Premier Ed Schreyer, acting on behalf of the other Premiers.

Mr. Schreyer referred specifically to Federal Transport Minister Otto Lang's response to the Western Transport Ministers' formal brief on the hall commission made on July 25. He said Mr. Lang's actions "constitute delay, and in most cases are out of keeping with the spirit of the hall commission recommendations."

As an example, the Premier cited Mr. Lang's announcement of a $100 million federal grant for rehabilitating the railways. "Rather than being provided to the Prairie rail authority, which would determine the priorities for upgrading, it is being negotiated with the railways by Mr. Lang's office."

Mr. Schreyer expressed concern that Mr. Lang may not establish the Prairie rail authority, recommended by the hall commission, as he has only committed himself to examining this proposal.

The Premier emphasized that this proposed agency "has been viewed by our ministers as one of the key and essential recommendations to be implemented which will establish a western decision-making body with the authority and resources."

"The Prairie rail authority is required to achieve permanent decisions on those branch lines which the hall commission felt required future planning input from the elevator companies in order to finalize the disposition of those branchlines assigned to it for upgrading or abandonment."

The Premier also stated that the Western Premiers would not regard the Canadian Transport commission as a satisfactory substitute for the proposed Prairie Rail authority since the commission "has in the past not been particularly sensitive or responsive to Western Canadian needs."

This was also noted by the hall commission which stated that, "Perhaps the dominant criticism was that the C.T.C., being Ottawa-based, was unaware of and was not responsive to Western problems and needs."

The Premiers also oppose Mr. Lang's view that abandoned rail line rights-of-way and their associated mineral rights should pass to the Federal Government. Mr. Schreyer said this position represents a federal intrusion into an area of provincial constitutional rights and is also in contradiction of the spirit and intent of the hall report.

Namao pioneer passes

By Norma Crozier

On September 14, 1977, John McDonell of Namao passed away aged 71 years, 11½ months. Born in the family home at Namao on September 27, 1905, he was the second son of pioneers Mr. and Mrs. Finley McDonell who came to the district in 1886 from Glen-garry County, Ontario. John attended elementary school at Roseridge and high school at Namao. On December 9, 1931 he was married to Marion (Mollie) McLay of Namao, here they made their home and raised their family of four sons.

A great lover of the sport of hockey Johnny was one of the original players of the first Namao hockey team. Keenly interested in community activities he served on the Namao School Board and for eight years acted as president of the Namao Hall Board. He was also chairman of the sponsoring committee of Cadet Squadron 524 Silver Lancers from 1954 - 1958.

John owned and operated his own gravel business at Villeneuve, retiring five years ago due to illness.

He leaves to mourn his loving wife Marion (Mollie), four sons, Murray, Gordon and Rod of Vancouver, B.C., Kim at home; four grandchildren. Also two brothers and one sister, Angus, Namao; Chris, Victoria, B.C. and Mrs. Francis (Marjorie) Flynn of Edmonton.

Funeral services were held on September 16 at the St. Albert Catholic Church with Rev. Jacques Joly, OMI officiating. For the service the scriptures were read by Mr. Ernie Jamison, MLA. Good friends and neighbours Ron and Diane Nelsen each sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Bertha Kennedy. Interment was in the St. Albert Cemetery.

Following the service lunch was served in the Namao Community Hall by the ladies of the Namao Happiette Club.

Namao News

By Norma Crozier

At the September meeting of Namao UCW held last week, plans were made for the annual Namao UCW turkey supper. It will be held on October 22 in the Namao School Auditorium beginning at 5 p.m.

The large granite, 10 gallon coffee urn is missing from the Namao Community Hall. Anyone knowing its whereabouts may return it by contacting Mrs. Julie Crap-lewe at 973-3251.

Sympathy of the district is extended to Don and Carmen Cameron in the loss of Carmen's brother, Mr. Ronald Jarron of Vancouver, B.C., who passed away on September 13, 1977.

Sympathy is extended to the family of John McDonell of Namao who passed away on September 14, 1977 after a lengthy illness. Johnny will be greatly missed by his family and his many friends at Namao.

Get well wishes go out to Mrs. Norma Paul and to Mrs. Polly McLay who are both patients in the Royal Alexandra Hospital in Edmonton.

Alberta water supply outlook

The latest water supply outlook released by Alberta Environment indicates a slight improvement in the last few weeks in some areas due to recent snowstorms. The Fort McMurray and Slave Lake areas, the Rocky Mountains and the southern part of the province have received near or above normal precipitation for March.

The snowstorm in the last week of March which dropped about the equivalent of two inches of water in southern Alberta will improve soil moisture conditions in that part of the province. However, the water supply prospect is not expected to change significantly. Although some new snow was added to mountain snowpacks, readings at several mountain snow course stations are still the lowest on record.

In central Alberta, the North Saskatchewan River and the Red Deer River are expected to produce only 65% of the normal runoff during this spring and summer.

In southern Alberta, Bow River runoff is expected to about 75% of normal. Forecasts for the flows on the Oldman and the St. Mary Rivers are 60% and 75% of normal respectively.

In central and eastern Alberta where winter precipitation has been well below average, water supply conditions are already poor in many localities.

SKIP WILD OAT CONTROL THIS YEAR AND YOU MAY PAY FOR IT IN 1978, 1979, 1980...

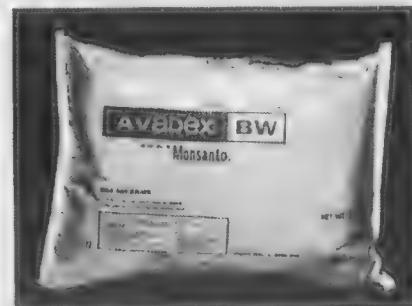

Remember this important fact about your major weed problem. Wild oats left uncontrolled in your 1978 crop can germinate any time in the next eight years. What's more, it takes only a few wild oat plants per square foot to seriously reinfest your land and reduce yields.

The message is clear—don't skip your chemical wild oat control this year. Do what more and more farmers are doing—apply Avadex® BW herbicide by Monsanto every Fall.

It can effectively control wild oats in the Spring, before most of them even emerge. Before they can rob your wheat, barley or other labelled crops of vital moisture and nutrients. And you of yield. Fall applied Avadex BW can also save you time and labour next spring. Avadex BW. It can boost next year's yield.

Avadex® BW is a registered trademark of the Monsanto Company. Always read and follow the label directions for Avadex BW.

Winter sports in Morinville are costing more

By Marg Bentz

Good news and bad. There has been a hefty increase in fees for arena sports this year, which reflects the multiplying utility and labour costs.

Similar increases are in effect this year in most centres throughout the region. Family memberships have jumped to $40 from $25., and singles have climbed only $3 to $15. To offset these increases a firm schedule for public skating has been struck, which is to be adhered to all winter. (Sunday afternoon 4:30 - 6 p.m. and Wednesday 6 - 7 p.m., Thursday and Friday 4 - 5 p.m.).

Hockey and figure skating have been boosted from last year's low prices (Hockey $7 to $20 and figure skating $20 to $30).

Registration fees for hockey this year will be: Shavers $15 (last year's fees $7), Mites $20 (last year $8); PeeWee $22 (last year $9); Bantam $25 (last year $10); Midget $27 (last year $11); Juvenile $40 (last year $20).

Power skating doubled from 10 dollars to 20 dollars. Hockey school only went up marginally from $20 to $25.

The figure skating club has cut its program from two 10 week sessions to one 15 week session in an effort to better serve the community and cut costs. Fees this year will be $34 - ARSA, all categories and $43 - CFSA - all categories.

Last year fees for ARSA ranged from $20 to $30 for the 20 weeks.

All registrations above must be accompanied by a family membership of $40 (last year $25) or a single membership of $15 (last year $12); which is paid only once regardless of how many activities you participate in.

An example of the increase as applied to one boy mite age would be last year $50 (includes power skating, hockey school, hockey registration and single membership) to $80 this year. In the case of a figure skater, last year's 20 week program plus the power skating and single membership came to $42., this year the shorter 15 week program plus the power skating and single membership will total $69.00.

An honest effort has been made to evenly distribute the inflationary costs of running the arena to those who use it. Any group or individual who feels unjustly burdened should state their case to the Central Sturgeon Agricultural Society.

Riviere Qui Barre Ranchero News

By Colin Campbell

The Rancheros had a successful banquet on September 11 at Don and Jackie Campbell's. We barbecued a lamb donated by Don and Jackie, and did humorous skits on club members activities throughout the year.

All the club members were presented with plaques donated and presented by their sponsors. The leader, Carren Perrott and assistant leader Gordon Fuhr were presented with presents. Gail Fuhr was presented with a present for having the most points and neatest books out of the seniors. Linda Soetaert was presented with a present too, for having the neatest book and most points out of juniors. Sheryl Soetaert was presented with a token for winning congeniality and Linda Soetaert won a present for efficiency.

Hector Soetaert was presented with a token for all the effort he put into the club. The Rancheros would like to give special thanks to Bob Burns for the pointers he gave us and Lollie Brenneis for the beautiful artistic work on our banner.

RQB couple wed August 6

On August 6, two local people exchanged marriage vows in a double ring ceremony at St. Emmerce Catholic Church in Riviere Qui Barre. They were Sandra McRae, daughter of Clarence and Agnes McRae and Henry Kieftenbeld, eldest son of Jerry and Mona Kieftenbeld, all of Riviere Qui Barre.

Father Roche performed the ceremony in which the couple exchanged vows written by themselves. The wedding music was played by Vera Soetaert and the church choir added to the ceremony.

The bride looked lovely in a long white gown with cowl neckline, lace-covered bodice and elbow length full sleeves. Her headpiece was a Juliet cap with a short sheer veil. Sandra carried a bouquet of yellow daisies and baby's breath.

The maid of honour was sister of the groom Jo Kieftenbeld and the bridesmaid was Eileen Kolesar, friend of the bride. Both wore long gowns of light green with spaghetti straps and a beige lace jacket. They carried bouquets of yellow and white daisies and baby's breath throughout.

some in a tan suit with a daisy boutonniere. The groomsmen Harvey Kieftenbeld, brother of the groom, and Terry McRae, brother of the bride wore dark brown suits with white carnations.

The mother of the bride chose a blue flowered gown with long sheer sleeves. The mother of the groom wore a long green dress with matching jacket. Both had daisy corsages.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held in the Riviere Qui Barre Community Centre.

tered with a triple layer cake decorated with daisies. Master of ceremonies was Joe Sheehan, uncle of the bride. Another uncle, Emile Comeau, gave the toast to the bride. A delicious supper was enjoyed by all.

A dance for about 300 guests was then held in the community centre to the music of the Vibrations. A midnight lunch wound up a beautiful day.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kieftenbeld are now making their home in their new house in the Riviere Qui Barre district.

Ontario offering drought insurance

For the first time anywhere in the world, the Ontario Crop Insurance Commission is offering drought insurance for hay and pasture. The plan overcomes the thorny problem of determining yield. It is based on computer models of forage growth over long periods (up to 50 years), in various parts of Ontario.

Average figures for rainfall and temperature are compared with daily figures compiled by the Commission and by farmers. Farmers are given a rain gauge to keep their own record of daily precipitation. If growing conditions are less than 80% of the average, insured farmers are entitled to a payment. Payment increases as weather worsens. The maximum coverage is $400 an acre, and the farmer pays $2.25 per $100 worth of coverage.

PERSONALIZED BUSINESS STATIONARY is very costly, and this is just some of the many supplies that were rendered useless by an act of vandalism in the town office last weekend. Some of the shelves were actually bowed, as the weight of the paper was greatly increased by the absorption of much water.

Morinville Memos

Morinville Scouts and Venturers will be having registration on Thursday, September 22 at 7 p.m., at the arena. Cubs first regular meeting was held on Monday, September 19 at 7 p.m. at the International Building. Parents are asked to attend registration. By enrolling our youngsters in such organizations, we aid them in forming positive values, give them a sense of worth and may very well forestall a re-occurrence of the vandalism that occurred last weekend at the town hall and convent.

Anyone interested in working on the Frontier Daze executive can contact Marg Yacysen at 939-3047, Denise Houle at 939-4231 or Harry Brown at 939-3517.

The Senior Citizens are planning a bazaar, tea and bake sale and hope to have all their members supply some article or pastry for this purpose. Dates and other arrangements will be published as they are established.

The Peanut Drive that was held last Wednesday was very successful and the Morinville Kinsmen are most pleased with the response of town residents. Proceeds are going towards Cystic Fibrosis. The first meeting of the Morinville Kinsmen was held on September 13 with the next supper meeting taking place on Tuesday, September 27 at the Legion Hall at 6:30 p.m. Anyone interested in joining this community service club can call Brian Atkinson at 939-4055. It is open to any man between the ages of 21 and 40 years.

4H SEWING CLUB FOR MORINVILLE?

The forming of a Morinville 4H Sewing Club hinges on finding a leader. Thirty-four girls are interested in taking the course and many mothers are willing to help but a leader must be found. There are no special requirements for this position. For further information, call Rhonda Stapleton at 939-4827.

Farmers' Market is held every Saturday from 10 a.m. until noon. For fresh produce at reasonable prices stop in

FROSH

The big item on the agenda this week is FROSH. Friday, September 23 is initiation day for all grade 10 students at Georges P. Vanier High School.

There is great excitement in the school as the Frosh Committee (grade 11 and 12 students) makes final preparations for "Kangaroo Kourt" - the official initiation of the '77 Froshies. Admission is free for all those who wish to attend, so come to the high school gymnasium on Friday at 7 p.m. for some good entertainment and a lot of laughs!

The highlight of the event will be the frosh dance featuring "Argus Flyer." So come and boogie at the Morinville Recreation Centre from 9:30 - 1 for only $3.00!

Oh! Just a little warning - don't be alarmed if you see a strange looking character walking by your house some time during the day. Remember, it's just your average froshie!

Saints and Sinners Square Dance Club start beginner classes Thursday, September 22 from 8 p.m. till 10:30 p.m. They meet in St. Albert and are trying to get a group from Morinville to travel in for these dance classes. Anyone interested can call Dave or Lorraine Phillips at 939-4811.

Registration for figure skating and learn to skate programs will be held on Monday, September 26 between 7 and 8 p.m. in the arena. Unlike previous years, only one registration will be held for an extended session of 15 weeks, hopefully enabling the carnival to take place before the spring break. There will not be a second registration in December. For further information call Diane Wahlfeldt at 939-4425.

Congratulations to the staff of the Morinville Credit Union on winning September's 200 dollar a month club draw.

Reader's co-operation in telephoning or bringing in news items is greatly appreciated. Please phone 939-4145 or stop in at 9901 - 99 Avenue.

Members of the Knights of Columbus of Morinville will hold a house-to-house canvass in Morinville on Tuesday, September 27, to raise funds for The Arthritis Society. The proceeds will be used to ensure the best possible care is available for arthritis patients, to support arthritis research and to provide information for the health professions, patients and the general public. Mr. Paul Krauskopf, chairman of the Morinville Campaign Committee urges every citizen to be willing and generous when the volunteer canvasser calls at your home on Tuesday, September 27.

A number of residents have reported seeing skunks around their property of late. Garbage is a favorite area for these little four-footed vandals, who command a healthy respect from those who would deal with them.

Important Tiny Tot general meeting on Wednesday, September 28 at 8 p.m. at the Rec. Centre in Morinville.

Frontier Daze raises $11,400 for community

After a recent meeting of the Morinville Frontier Daze Board, the following financial report was released. According to Treasurer Norm Chalifoux the net amount of money cleared at Frontier Daze was 11,400 dollars. Presentations were made by representatives of the following organizations requesting financial assistance: Central Sturgeon Agricultural Society, Historical Society of Morinville and Morinville Recreation Board.

Following a discussion by members of the Board, it was decided that the total monies would be dispersed as follows:

Frontier Daze Building Fund $ 2,500
Grants $ 1,400
Morinville Recreation Board for Heritage Lake Park $ 2,900
Historical Society of Morinville (for establishment of an office) $ 600 Arena $ 4,000

TOTAL $11,400

The disbursement of 1,400 dollars in grants has already taken place. The following money was given in lieu of labor:

Vanier Yearbook Committee $200
Vanier Sports Committee $200
Morinville Ambulance $150

The remainder of grants were given to the following in lieu of rent:

Central Sturgeon Agricultural Society (Arena) .. $600
Morinville Recreation Centre $250

The donation of 2,900 dollars for Heritage Lake Development will be matched by the Morinville Recreation Board, the sum total of which will be used to build two camp kitchens and three double washrooms.

Funds allotted to the arena will be used firstly for the construction of a sound booth, which will cost approximately 2,000 dollars. The remainder of the 4,000 dollars will be held in trust for the purchase of sound equipment. There will be consultation with representatives from skating, hockey, Frontier Daze, and the Central Sturgeon Agricultural Society before the above-stated projects in the arena are commenced in order to suit the majority of the community using the facilities.

This is a real honest to goodness welder that can do heavyduty arc and heli-arc welding. The new welder adds only 26 pounds of weight to the vehicle and it employs a totally new welding principle.

The welder is manufactured by Resco Mfg. at Fort Worth, Texas. Joe Douglass, factory representative for Resco, explained the welder and AFR had the opportunity to try a few welds. The welder works on the principle of using high frequency instead of amperage to heat the metal. With a conventional arc welder it requires bigger cables and a bigger machine to produce the amps to heat thick metals.

The PC-130 does not sound like a regular arc welder. When the electrode strikes the arc a high frequency sound can be heard. The small unit can use all types of both AC and DC welding rods in sizes up through 5/32. Joe Douglass explained that a conventional arc welder is like a 300-pound football player blasting himself down the field at 15 miles per hour. The PC-130 is like a 20-pound football player whizzing down the field at 200 miles per hour. The high frequency does the heating.

The welding machine consists of two components, a special alternator and an electronic unit which produces the high frequency pulsating DC output. When set at its mid-range of 65 volts, it can do the same work as a conventional machine set at 165 amps.

Joe explained that the welders were first invented thirteen years ago by an electronics expert named Jim Stroud. Jim got fed up with lugging a heavy welding machine around. He was a small man and he could not life the heavy conventional welder.

The welder was tested for seven years before it was put on the market. It is the first welder to use the principle of regenerative feedback. This principle enables you to get more current out of the alternator. Instead of using the truck's regular alternator, a special alternator which is designed to work with the unit is installed.

Both TIG welding and arc welding are easy to do with this unit. It is easier to hold an arc with the new welder, because the rod can be held closer to the metal. With a TIG torch attachment you can weld aluminum, stainless steel, copper and brass. This is welding, not blazing. The high frequency needed for TIG welding is built into the welder. With a conventional welder you have to buy an expensive high frequency unit for TIG welding.

TIG welding with the PC-130 was really quite easy. I have never used a TIG torch before and I was able to lay a decent bead after the fourth try. The TIG welding attachment will come in handy for mending irrigation pipes.

To control the heat while welding, you rev up the truck's engine. One thing which some people would be concerned about would be possible overheating of the truck. For over an hour the pick-up was running and we were welding some heavy metal. It was over 100 degrees outside and there was no overheating problems. Another thing which prevents overheating is that the truck or car hood has to be kept open while you are using the welder.

The welder is also equipped with an outlet so you can run power tools and charge batteries. Any power tool with a universal wound motor can be used. The unit can also be used to power resistive loads, such as branding irons, coffee pots and incandescent lights. It cannot be used to power radios or other electronic items.

This unit stays on the car at all times. To weld you just plug in the leads and go.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Retail price of the mobile welder, fob Fort Worth, Texas, is $538. U.S. funds. A Canadian dealer for the welder is Lucien Chabot, Zion Park, Saskatchewan. Normally, it is recommended you pay $30 to $40 to have the welder installed.

the address of Resco Mfg. is 6546 Baker Boulevard, Fort Worth, Texas.

Food on wings, during pioneer days

By Margarette J. Atkinson
During the years when settlers were travelling to the west, wildlife thrived in abundance.

Great v-shaped flocks of wild geese flew overhead, their honking bringing a cry of far away places over the wide Canadian prairies.

Whooping Cranes, Sandhill Cranes and the beautiful Whistling Swans could also be seen their soft wings caressing the soft spring breeze. White columns of Snow Geese glowed a bright coral above the deep red of the evening sky at sunset. The forests beneath were blackening as night shadows loomed.

Steel ribbons of railways had thrust their silver threads through the green velvet of the deep forests and golden prairies, and on to the snow crusted Rocky Mountains and the Pacific.

As the railways expanded, heavily timbered trestles spanned mighty boiling mountain rivers, prairie streams and the wide green rivers of the prairie. Sturdy railway stations sprang up near the tall newly painted grain elevators.

At the time when the ripened grain had been cut and stooks dotted the prairie fields, the great flocks of wild geese flew overhead. Their cries told of cold days to come. Flocks of ducks would circle, then swoop down into the golden fields of "stooked" grain.

Often the cooks on those railway gangs needed fresh meat for their larders. They weren't always near food sources during those times before refrigeration.

Since railway "speeders" were the newest invention, they were used to stock up the cook's shelves.

"What a way to have a change of diet!" Clean, fattened grain-fed ducks were plentiful and transporting them was no problem. Hunters made expedition for fowl on the "speeders." Stone crock jugs carried hot tea for them, and kept cold spring-water icy cold too. A very successful hunt often filled that big roast-pan on the railway cook car.

This food on wings was certainly a treat during Pioneer days.

Don't forget the revitalized recreation board's meeting on September 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the Joint Use Facility Arts and Crafts room. If you are unable to attend this meeting but would like to help out please phone Kay Foster at 923-2928 or Elaine Zutz at 923-2651.

A midget hockey practise will be held at the arena on September 24 from 8 to 10 a.m. This is open to all boys of midget hockey age and an invitation is extended to Horse Hill, Bon Accord and Namao boys to attend.

Anyone interested in taking over the running of the concession is asked to phone Karen Hogg at 976-6924. If you would like some extra income give me a call.

Will and Katie Mabbutt returned last week from a holiday down in the western coast.

Congratulations to Lloyd and Mary Lee Sprague on the birth of a baby boy Daniel James, born on September 9. The happy family reside in Red Deer.

Legal Locals

Jeanne Maurier has been appointed as the community contact person representing the Village of Legal on the Sturgeon Regional Recreation Board. Jeanne announces courses in Beginners Sewing, First Aid, Denim Sewing, Office Procedure, Macrame, Primitive Weaving, Eskimo Parka Construction, Arts and Painting, and a new course on "Knowing Your Car."

There will also be a pre-Christmas course in Chocolate Making which will be held November 15 in the Legal Recreation Centre. A Babysitter Course will be offered for children.

"More courses could be set up if enough people are interested," said Mrs. Maurier and she would be pleased to hear from people on what kinds of things they are interested in. She will herself be teaching classes in leather crafts.

From October 14 - 16 Mrs. Maurier will be attending the training program at Camp He Ho Ha, and one of the things she is looking forward to learning more about is denim sewing.

Anyone wishing to further their French skills - written and oral, please contact Mrs. Cloutier at 961-3739.

A course will be organized in Legal if enough interest is shown.

A province-wide Defensive Driving Campaign is being launched October 1 to 31, 1977, announces the Alberta Safety Council.

This will be the third annual drive to emphasize the need for an increase in Defensive Driving Courses to provide more people with the opportunity to attend.

Alberta traffic deaths in 1976 reached 529, the second highest number ever recorded in Alberta during a calendar year.

This clearly points out that Defensive Driving is all-important to those who want to have some measure of protection.

"This is the largest number of graduates ever trained in one year through the Alberta Safety Council", reports Harold Mayhew, President of the Council. "Although it is very gratifying, we know we are only skimming the surface, all drivers benefit from this training and enthusiastic graduates will tell you that this course should be taken by every driver."

"Our concern is that too many Albertans are just not able to cope with today's driving task. Monthly traffic accident statistics supports this factor. However, the problem can be greatly reduced by taking the eight hour classroom course, which is available in over 80 Alberta centres", added Mr. Mayhew.

The Tiny Tot quilt was won by Linda Bibby, 4 Greenbrier Crescent, St. Albert. Congratulations Linda.

Skills and fun and crafts and creativity classes get underway for pre-kindergarten (3½ - 4½) children on October 4 with classes to run on Tuesdays and Thursday mornings. The class is limited to 30 and information can be had from Linda Hepner or Donna Lemke.

An assistant cub leader has offered his services. Now all that's needed is someone (or more) to help and boys who are interested in joining cubs. Anyone in either category, please call June Sereciak, 921-3589.

Get well wishes are extended to Pauline Mansfield in Sturgeon General. In Pauline's absence, information re. crafts should be directed to June Sereciak.

A one evening-only course in molded chocolates is being offered on November 8 from 8 - 10 p.m. in the Bon Accord Community Centre. Registration is $1 per person and anyone wishing to take this course should register now. Fifteen to 20 are needed before the course will be held.

Canvassing for the annual Thanksgiving supper will soon get underway. Although the supper is spearheaded by the Ladies' Community Club, it is a community affair and the support of everyone in the community is needed to carry it through successfully. Donations of pies, coffee, butter, tea, pickles will be gratefully accepted. Volunteers are needed to cook vegetables, set tables, wash dishes and all help will also be accepted gratefully. The supper will be held on Monday, October 10 in the Cave at the Bon Accord Arena. Tickets are $3 for adults, $1.50 for 6 - 12 and under six, free if accompanied by parents.

FARMERS' MARKET NEWS

In conjunction with the supper a wind-up Farmers' Market will be held on the main floor of the arena. A terrific variety of products is offered at the Market, including fresh vegetables, home baking, crafts, jams and jellies, Barbie clothes, hand crafted jewellery, fresh honey and cheese. This Wednesday, Sept. 21, June Sereciak will be demonstrating the construction of a T-shirt (Stretch and Sew) at 7:30 p.m. at the Farmers' Market. On September 28, Teresa Tonsi will be demonstrating the construction of a craft article and on October 5 there are only three Farmers' Markets left counting September 21, before the final wind-up on Thanksgiving Day. If you have not attended before, drop in from 6 - 9 p.m., and see what you have been missing.

Ballet lessons get underway on October 5, starting at 4 p.m. Irish dancing will be held on Thursdays from 7 - 8:30, and starts on October 6. If interested in ballet, call Lynda Ross, 921-3785 or in Irish dancing call Rita Allen (after six) 921-3825.

Registration for the 4H Food Club will be held on Wednesday, September 28 at 8 p.m. at the home of club leader, Edith Kowalski.

Members of Mr. Everitt McEachren's family surprised him with this unusual birthday card at the open house party held for him in Bon Accord to mark his 80th birthday.

A service of Thanksgiving and Holy Eucharist will be held at Holy Trinity Anglican Church, Bon Accord on October 2 at 9 a.m. The church will be decorated on Saturday, October 1 and helping hands and donations of garden produce (jams, jellies, pickles etc.) will be gratefully received.

The 4H Clothing Club will hold a meeting for "Mothers only" at the home of club leader, Carol Rivet on September 28 at 8 p.m. (2 miles east, 5 miles north of Bon Accord). For information, call Carol at 921-2310. A tentative date for the first meeting of club members has been set for Saturday, October 1 at 1 p.m. in the Bon Accord Community Centre.

Get well wishes are extended to Mrs. Hazel Putnam, in Sturgeon General.

MEET YOUR NEW NEIGHBOURS

A coffee morning has been set up for Wednesday, September 28 from 10 - 11:30 a.m. in the Bon Accord Community Centre. A very special invitation is extended to all new residents of the village and surrounding area to come out and meet your neighbours. An information sheet on services, clubs, churches, activities, etc., will be available for everyone.

The Ladies' Community Club met at the home of Rita Milligan on September 14. The next meeting will be held at the home of Sarah Mulligan on October 5. Anyone wishing to attend may contact Lynda Johnson, 921-3634 or Betty West 921-3638.

The Golden Dews senior citizens club will meet in the Bon Accord community centre at 1:30 p.m., on September 27. Club members are urged to make a special effort in the home baking department for the Farmers' Market on October 10. Being exposed to a much larger market because of the Thanksgiving supper that night, as much home baking as can be supplied will find a ready sale. If you are unable to bake yourself, but are willing to supply the ingredients, call Joan Hill at 921-3674.

Sympathy of the district is extended to the family of Miss Elinor Hall who passed away in Edmonton, over the past weekend. Interment was in the Bon Accord Cemetery on Tuesday, September 20.

Many old friends gather to honour Everitt McEachren

By Sadie Allen

An unusual birthday card, a panel Glow Sign, greeted Mr. Everitt McEachren on the occasion of his 80th birthday when his family hosted an Open House at the Bon Accord Community Centre. Around two hundred attended among them many friends formerly from Luskland, Saskatchewan.

It is 40 years since these neighbours left the dry area, settling in Viking, Bremner, Bon Accord and Edmonton. Among them Mr. Clarence Swain, Viking, Mrs. Rose Fellows, Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kennedy, Sherwood Park and Mr. and Mrs. Walter King, Edmonton.

Other out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. C. Benson, Camrose, his son Dick from Comox, B.C., daughter Edith from Hope, B.C., sons Gerald from Ferintosh and Allan from Barrhead, grandson David George and great grandchildren Carrie and Darren from Grande Prairie and grand-daughter Judy and Chris Glenn from Fort McMurray.

His oldest grandson, David George and youngest grand-daughter Kim McEachren presented him with a scroll of the family tree drawn especially for the occasion by grand-daughter Debbie Carruthers. In attendance were five of his 10 great grandchildren, 22 of his 28 grandchildren and eight of his nine children.

A delicious lunch was served, and the table was centered by a beautifully decorated birthday cake, the handiwork of Mrs. Thelma Everitt. Warm thanks were extended to all those who attended to make the day so successful. It was great for Everitt to visit with so many good friends, and the birthday celebration was one he will always remember.

Bon Accord development permits top three million

Two development permits were issued early September to Legal Construction and Development Ltd. Both permits were for commercial projects. A home improvement centre and lumber yard will be constructed on the lot west of the Government Yards flanking Main street, and a multi outlet commercial building will be built on a six-lot parcel directly east of the post office.

To date, development permits issued by the Village for the current year total over $3,000,000. Included in this figure are the 50 townhouse units, an addition to Bon Accord School, 13 single family dwellings and 14 garages or residential additions.

NEW WELL

A start was made in tying in the new well during the past week. Unfortunately the project has been held up due to wet weather. Weather permitting, the tie-in will be completed during the current week.

Final inspections have recently been carried out on the Lagoon project and the townhouse units. Final inspection for the surface improvements in the Springbrook subdivision has been requested by Glacier Developments for September 21.

BON ACCORD HISTORY

Residents of the area will be pleased to hear that

Council has authorized the financing of reprinting 500 copies of "Leaves of Yesterday" the history of Bon Accord and district. Delivery is expected early in the new year. The books will be sold through the village office and will also be used to serve as a memento of the village. The exact price of these books will be set at a later date.

Cattlemen advise culling of old cows

In a release the Association said that there are clear signs that the cattle cycle is now peaking out with a gradually reducing supply of calves coming into the pipeline and whilst cattlemen are not advised to start building up their cow numbers, now is certainly a good time to begin the job of replacing older cows with young selected heifers.

By holding back heifer calves this fall, cattlemen will tend to reduce the fairly burdensome supplies of slaughter cattle that are expected next spring. The Association points out that in 1976, about 30% of Canadian fed beef supplies came from heifers - compared with a more normal 20 to 25% - and any action to slow down heifer slaughter in 1978 will tend to encourage price recovery. At the same time Canada maintains its existing quota on imported frozen beef, cow prices will be fairly stable.

The Association warned cattle producers not to overreact to better calf and yearling prices that are anticipated this fall by rapidly building up cow numbers. It is this short term overreaction to current prices that creates feeder cattle prices this fall, if they occur, will be primarily a reaction to the grain surplus problems in the U.S. - a situation that could change overnight with crop failure in any part of the world.

At the same time, once we are through the slaughter cattle supplies of the next four to six months the industry should be in a position to enter a period of moderate rebuilding. Producers who enter that phase with a young, efficient cow herd will be able to exploit that period to the full.

Using winter rye

Stuart McBean, a rye breeder at Agriculture Canada's Swift Current, Sask., Research Station, says there are no varieties of rye resistant to ergot. The only practical means of control is to use the older seed on land that hasn't grown rye for at least a year.

For best crop results Mr. McBean suggests the seed should be winterhardy and planted at a uniform two-inch depth.

Sheep marketing statistics

There were fewer sheep and lambs marketed in Canada last year despite strong prices and a good demand.

About 217,000 head were sold to public stockyards and packing plants in 1976. That was a two percent decline from 1975.

Imports of both live lambs and dressed lamb and mutton increased last year while exports fell.

When the Great Fire in 1666 destroyed 13,200 buildings in London, Holland provided England with aid. A grateful King Charles II gave Holland the right to sell eels to Britain duty free once a year, and Dutch ships still call at London annually with cargoes of tax-exempt eels, National Geographic says.

Asia's black panthers actually are melanistic leopards, National Geographic World magazine says. Melanin is dark coloring matter, used in this case for protection. Just as spotted leopards blend with grass patterns on African plains, the Asian leopard's dark fur provides concealment in the jungle shadows.

Loch Ness, scoured by glaciers in the last Ice Age, covers 24 miles of the Great Glen, a geologic rift cutting across Scotland. The lake, up to 975 feet deep, holds more water than any other in Britain, National Geographic says.
